WELCOME!

From temporary to contemporary – with this slogan, an invitation to join us in creating change, we began our journey in 2015, a journey to becoming a European Capital of Culture.

Over seven years, a small group of cultural enthusiasts and their dream of creating a new legend for our city and reinforcing the identity of a contemporary Kaunas through culture has been joined by hundreds of like-minded supporters from Kaunas, the surrounding Kaunas District, Lithuania, and Europe. As we present this artistic programme for the year 2022, we invite the people of Europe to a changing, younger, more welcoming, community-minded, stylish, empathetic, accessible, and sustainable city, one that is open to its own history, the history of Europe, and to the present day. Most importantly, ours is a city that no longer fears the ghosts of its past and has resolved to liberate itself from any complex of fictional or imagined insignificance. In Kaunas, joy is much more viral than the virus that has plagued our world in recent years.

As I present this extraordinary programme for Kaunas European Capital of Culture 2022, I wish to express my pride in our team and my special thanks to those who entrusted this long process to us and joined in its implementation, first and foremost the Kaunas City and Kaunas District Municipalities, in which this programme will be taken place, and who have assumed both the financial and administrative responsibility for a long, enduring, costly process which has not always immediately produced results. Thanks to your support, the cultural, social, and economic changes driven by this project will continue to be felt for decades to come! I am also grateful to the Ministry of Culture of the Republic of Lithuania and its assistance in ensuring a smooth pre-selection and selection process and for providing co-financing and constant support and encouragement. Thanks to their team, we felt valued for every our effort along the way.

Initiator and CEO of
Kaunas – European Capital of Culture 2022
Virginija Vitkienė

I am profoundly grateful to our extended team. In recent years, our journey of change was joined by 80 Lithuanian organizations which, together with an even greater number of European partners, have created a profound, meaningful, emotionally impactful, inclusive, and intense European Capital of Culture programme, which now includes four times more events than there are days in the year!

I am sure that every week and every weekend you spend in Kaunas, you will be drawn into a whirlwind of current European culture.

I extend my most heartfelt invitation to visitors from around Lithuania and Europe to join with the people of Kaunas and experience a personal transformation by participating in the Trilogy of the Myth of Contemporary Kaunas, from Temporary to Contemporary. Three weekend programmes – The Confusion (19-23 January 2022), The Confluence (20-22 May 2022), and The Contract (25-27 November 2022) – will feature more than one hundred separate events: premieres, exhibitions, concerts, and fire and light shows that will all be connected through the sharing of a new Kaunas myth. I invite you to become part of this unique and extraordinary story.

Exhibitions by internationally renowned artists, theatrical premieres, the Contemporary Stage Arts Festival, the European Youth Festival, the CityTelling Festival, the Fluxus Festival, and various design events are just a few hints as to what awaits you in this programme guide.

Everything has been planned with our audience in mind, so it cannot happen without you. I invite you to join us on this wonderful journey of change! And change is inspired and co-created by all of us.

The city of Kaunas was founded in a unique place, at the confluence of Lithuania's two largest rivers, the Nemunas and Neris. Here, in these converging waters, we can see not only the harmony of the forces of nature, so revered by Lithuanians, but also the symbolic reflection of the flow of history. Just as two rivers become one, so have two important traditions continued to shape the face of this city and our entire country.

From ancient times, the cultural life of Kaunas has been nourished by the cultural traditions of Western Europe, bringing to this city such aspects of Western culture as self-government, trade routes, social structures, peaceful coexistence, and respect for individual rights and freedoms.

But Kaunas has also always been shaped by local traditions. From the depths of our land has come a constant flow of traditions, languages, and religious and ethnic characteristics of the nations and communities of Lithuania's historic peoples and communities, all of which have transformed this city into an important crucible of a unique Lithuanian identity.

As Kaunas becomes a European Capital of Culture for 2022, these two powerful currents will enrich the cultures of the city, Lithuania, and all of Europe, bringing together in one place all of the best that we have created.

One of the most expansive cultural projects in Lithuania's history will give us an opportunity to rediscover the rich layers of cultural heritage that have come to shape Kaunas and which have inspired creative minds famous both in Lithuania and around the world, including L. L. Zamenhof, Maironis, Emmanuel Levinas, Marija Gimbutas, and George (Jurgis) Maciunas.

Kaunas' churches, monasteries, halls, and noble houses continue to serve as witnesses to the rich heritage of the Grand Duchy of Lithuania. After Kaunas was designated provisional capital of a reborn Lithuanian state in the wake of the First World War, the city became home to a unique modernist architecture that now aspires for designation as a UNESCO World Heritage Site. During a period of ambitious growth, Kaunas opened the first university in the country with instruction in the Lithuanian language and nurtured the phenomenon that became Lithuania's love for basketball. Still later, in the Soviet period, it was Kaunas that saw the emergence of a youth counterculture movement that challenged the Soviet occupation regime.

I am pleased that the European Capital of Culture programme will further the tradition of various cultural events converging in Kaunas. The city and the surrounding region will host some 900 events made possible by the collaboration of over 200 Lithuanian and foreign organizations, as well as tens of local communities. The programme will also showcase the work of international cultural icons, including William Kentridge and Marina Abramović, as well as initiatives undertaken by many Lithuanian artists, professionals, and amateur performers.

I am confident that the arrival of the European Capital of Culture programme in Kaunas will invigorate cultural life in Kaunas and throughout Lithuania. It is my sincere hope that Kaunas' aspiration to once again become a "contemporary capital" will reinforce its place on the European cultural map. May the coming year bring the fulfilment of all your dreams, and may a modern Lithuanian state continue to thrive and grow stronger as part of a free, democratic, and creative Europe!

President of the Republic of Lithuania
Gitanas Nausėda

Dear visitors,

From the start of the Kaunas 2022 project, I have had the chance to be at the very centre of the whirlwind of events that make up this programme and to see an idea become reality – a reality that continues to display ever new colours. I am convinced that the strength of this programme lies in its origins. The vision of Kaunas as European Capital of Culture emerged from the community itself – from our artists, city residents, and those who foster and care about the city's history. Community, a shared energy, the exchange of ideas, and an intense focus have carried this vision through to the momentous decision that will inscribe 2022 into the story of Kaunas as an exceptional period in our history.

I believe that Kaunas will succeed in reaching the goal contained in its slogan: "From Temporary to Contemporary!" Indeed, between the two World Wars, Kaunas experienced fundamental change and became a modern European city. May the title of European Capital of Culture become one more watershed moment in the history of Kaunas. It is at this moment that we have an extraordinary opportunity to rethink Europe and the idea of what it means to be European, as well as our own contribution to the European context. Within the kaleidoscopic puzzle of Europe, both today and in the past, we can find many similarities with other countries of the Old Continent. May these shared attributes become a unifying common denominator, and, instead of dividing or limiting us, may any differences between us nurture our sense of curiosity and our desire to discover and come to know one another better.

Minister of Culture of the Republic of Lithuania
Simonas Kairys

I am convinced that the ambitious Kaunas 2022 programme will receive considerable international attention and acclaim. This programme truly promises to join the ranks of past European Capital of Culture programmes which are later analysed and presented as particularly successful examples. Most importantly, however, I hope that the Kaunas 2022 programme will become a turning point for our local community and for its aspiration to perceive new meaning in its relationship with this city, raise new and challenging questions, and find answers within the constantly changing mirror of Kaunas. May this special city continue to be created and nurtured by special people – each and every one of us.

Kaunas welcomes a special moment in its history. We have grown and become the main stage of the Old Continent – a European Capital of Culture. Today, we can be truly proud that Kaunas, which is 613 years old, has once again received such prominent recognition and is deservedly taking its place in the spotlight.

Over the last century, Kaunas has come a long way. From the first steps of a free state, having liberated itself from the grip of an empire, from its status as provisional capital, a city of fearless dreamers and optimists, to a contemporary, open Kaunas that is full of culture and opportunities – a self-assured and self-confident Kaunas with a free, creative people. We are clearly visible on the map of Western Europe today.

I am confident that we will maintain this rhythm after 2022 and will continue to consistently and boldly build an ambitious, sustainable future for our city, full of positive change and outstanding achievements, one of which may soon be the inclusion of Kaunas' interwar architecture in the UNESCO

World Heritage List. May future generations one hundred years from now look back at this time as one of the most productive periods in the history of Kaunas.

On behalf of all of the people of Kaunas, I would like to sincerely thank the substantial Kaunas 2022 coordinating team, cultural organizations, communities, artists, and all those who have joined together for a common goal: to aim the brightest spotlight on Kaunas and showcase our unique city to Europe and the world.

This title has a special significance. It is a boundary which, once crossed, we will leave behind all the complexes and stereotypes of the past. We will no longer have to make excuses or prove anything. The transition has already taken place - from the temporary to a contemporary European Capital of Culture.

Welcome! Feel at home. I hope you enjoy Kaunas and experience that unforgettable Kaunastic feeling that will draw you back again and again!

Mayor of Kaunas
Visvaldas Matijošaitis

We offer our guests all the best treasures of our region.

In partnership with the city of Kaunas, the Kaunas District hopes to show Europe what brings warmth to the industrial face of the city, what has been hardened in the forge of history and adapted to contemporary life, and what makes us unique. This is why we offer our visitors what we ourselves consider to be our greatest treasure: our beautiful natural surroundings, unique towns, and centuries-old traditions.

First and foremost, we invite our guests to our recreational region encompassing Kulautuva, Kačerginė, and Zapyškis. These small towns are easily accessible from Kaunas by car, boat, or bicycle. Once there, you can breathe in the fresh pine air, relax by spring waters, enjoy the beauty of wooden, vintage interwar-era villas, or try any number of walking trails.

The Kaunas District includes 24 castle mounds as well as former bunkers created by partisans fighting the Soviet occupation after the war, the Jiesia landscape reserve and the Kaunas Lagoon Regional Park, the Tsarist-era fortification system around Kaunas, and the technological heritage museum in Bernatoniai.

Zapyškis is proud of St. John the Baptist's Church, known as the mother of Lithuanian churches, while Vilkija invites you to its ethnic culture museum. Kulautuva is home to a modern rehabilitation hospital which is now developing active medical tourism.

The former Raudondvaris Estate is home to the Kaunas District Museum and Arts Incubator, an area that hosts the region's largest celebrations and cultivates the professional arts.

Mayor of the Kaunas District
Valerijus Makūnas

We hope to enrich the range of the European Capital of Culture with events that attract an ever greater number of participants each year as well as foreign partners and visitors from other cities. This includes the Zapyškis Kite Festival, the Akacijų Alėja Sung Poetry Festival in Kulautuva, and the International Dog Sled Races in Jadagonys. The Footsteps at the Bottom of the Lagoon festival held in Samylai recounts the painful history of flooded villages. All of these events are a true treasure for lovers of culture.

The Šiuolaikinių seniūnijų (Contemporary Neighbourhoods) Project helped bring together communities and attract renowned European artists to the small towns along the Nemunas River, west of Kaunas. We have also increased the number of joint events organized with the city of Kaunas, including ConTempo and the CityTelling Festival. Zapyškis also now hosts a landscape design project in the form of a floating garden.

Our people are welcoming and friendly, and we will be very pleased to present our region and the traditions cherished here. You won't be disappointed!

THE EUROPEAN CAPITAL OF CULTURE PROJECT

The European Capital of Culture initiative, launched in 1985, is one of the most successful projects in the European Union. More than 50 cities have already been awarded this honourable title. The project is an opportunity to encounter and reveal the uniqueness and diversity of European cultures, to strengthen the sense of European community, and promote urban development.

In 2022, the spotlight of Europe will be focused on Kaunas and the Kaunas District, where the culture of the entire continent will also be represented. Kaunas is becoming the European Capital of Culture. For us, however, it began in 2015, when we started our journey to becoming the European Capital of Culture.

It is a journey from a temporary capital to a contemporary one – to a confident, creative, and open European city. A place where history lives on, and at the same time, the future is being actively built. It is a journey for all of us – for all citizens of the city and the Kaunas District, regardless of age, profession, origin, or views.

Over the last six years, we have successfully implemented the greater part of our programme and we view 2022 as a year-long celebration for Kaunas and the Kaunas District. But we won't be the only ones celebrating: We'll be joined by two other 2022 European Capitals of Culture – Esch-sur-Alzette in Luxembourg and Novi Sad in Serbia. Together, we've created several special projects that will be presented in all three capitals.

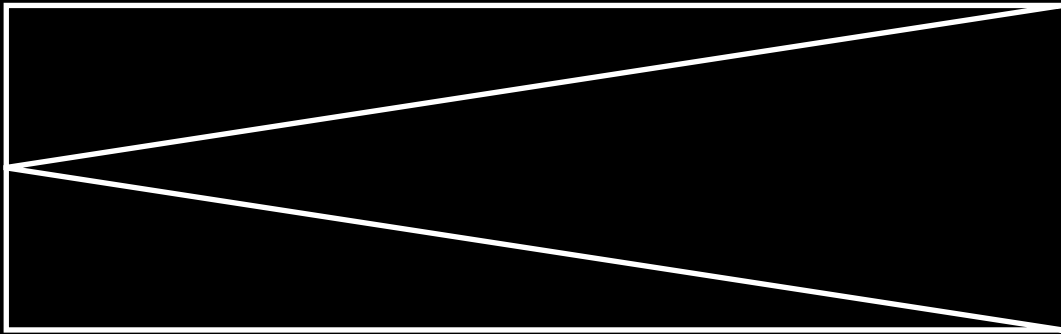

Our status as 2022 European Capital of Culture is an invitation to co-create the city of our future and its cultural life. At the same time, it is an invitation to discover and reveal the uniqueness of our place, strengthen connections with other cultures, and meet them in Kaunas.

EUROPEAN CAPITALS OF CULTURE

LETTER FROM THE PROGRAMME DIRECTOR

After several years of inspired discussions about what this project should bring to Kaunas, the decision to confer the title of European Capital of Culture was announced in 2017. The city's unique history, its European heritage, regional context and ambitious cultural programme had all shaped the unique, sincere, and community-based vision of a Contemporary Capital. Our Contemporary Capital is both a city and a region in which culture is not just limited to theatre on Sundays, but is a way of acting, learning, creating innovation, and building a community with respect for our own historical memory and that of others, concern for and pride in our heritage, and a community-based approach to building a shared Kaunas.

Guided by these aspirations and through the work of the project curators and hundreds of local and foreign partners, we have developed a cultural programme for Kaunas 2022 divided into 8 thematic sections. Thanks to all of these efforts, Kaunas and the Kaunas District will soon welcome exhibitions by world-renowned artists such as Marina Abramović, Yoko Ono, and William Kentridge, and visitors will be invited to participate in various festivals of unique scope and artistic range, including ConTempo, Audra, and the Kaunas Literature Week – events that have been inspired by the title of European Capital of Culture.

As we look forward to welcoming these extraordinary events, we also wish to remember our long road of preparations. Kaunas has seen great changes since 2017, and not just in its building façades, streets, or flower gardens. So much more has been awakened. Over 1,000 new community initiatives have taken root and hundreds of participants in the Kaunas Challenge project have prepared projects for the city's youth.

The story of Kaunas' modernist heritage is now being vividly presented to international audiences. With the emergence of new activities focused on new venues and accessibility, the role of the cultural dimension has expanded. These events are the most important elements of the European Capital of Culture programme. And while our global circumstances are not yet entirely clear as of the printing of this guide, I am confident that, come 2022, we will indeed celebrate these events, our communities' creative power, and our ability to meet all challenges. Kaunas will become the cultural stage for all of Europe.

THE CONTEMPORARY MYTH OF KAUNAS TRILOGY

It all began with a dream. A dream about a warm, interesting, familiar city. About a profound Kaunas with all of its secrets and wonderful present day life. About all of us, creating and destroying, rising and falling – the very real people of our city. Similar and different.

A city is a body. It lives as long as we exist and move around. This is what gave rise to the Beast metaphor, one which connects all of the city's different stories. That Beast is a bit noble, a bit of a ruler of the underworld, part child, part jester, part warrior, part guardian, part airplane, ship, even automobile. It, like the city, is created from living and inanimate parts. It moves, changes, breathes, and never stops, because it is eternal!

The Contemporary Myth of Kaunas Trilogy is made up of the body of this city – of the Beast and its rise, appearance, and our concord with it. It is a journey through the three main events of the European Capital of Culture – a journey much like the three stages of a person's life: coming to understand who we are, accepting who we are, and coexisting with ourselves – as we are. It is a liberating, soothing, and comforting journey, one which each of us can embark upon, whether we are natives of Kaunas, Vilnius, or New York. In truth, we're all very similar in our cities – everyone of us needs attention, warmth, and love.

And so, the Beast of Kaunas will rise in January on the Opening Day of the European Capital of Culture programme.

Then, we'll encounter him again in May.

And, finally, in November we'll make a contract with him (but actually, with ourselves) to live long and happy lives.

Our Beast will be accompanied by tens of concerts, exhibitions, performances, events, books, and stories.

Myths are culture. A city needs culture. Culture leads to a stronger economy and beneficial politics, and, quite simply – it makes life better.

THE CONFLUENCE

The Confluence is the second main event in the Contemporary Myth of Kaunas Trilogy. We invite you to one of Lithuania's most impressive sites to encounter the contradictions that lie within all of us and celebrate unity together. The event will begin with a sunset performance of a mystery directed by Oskaras Koršunovas, and will conclude with a water show on a scale never before seen in Lithuania, directed by British theatre director Chris Baldwin

20–22 May 2022

Confluence of Nemunas and Neris & various places by the rivers in Kaunas & Kaunas District

The date of this event was chosen for a very specific reason. The city of Kaunas celebrates its birthday every year in late May, while at the same time the Kaunas District will hold one of its most memorable celebrations, the Between Earth and Sky international kite festival. This is why an entire weekend will be devoted to all of these events. The name “Confluence” symbolizes the community shared between the people of Kaunas and the surrounding Kaunas District and the region's ties with other European cities. It is our hope that this weekend's events will inspire us all to reconnect with the waters around Kaunas and fulfil the city's dream to reunite with its rivers!

The entire weekend will feature shows by acrobats, contemporary circus performers, river excursions, and musical tours to river towns and settlements in Kaunas. If the pandemic permits, we also hope to welcome guests from the other two European Capitals of Culture and also from Alytus, which carries the title of Lithuania's Capital of Culture in 2022.

Finally, the weekend's events will also give everyone the chance to get a close glimpse of the Mythical Beast of Kaunas...

MODERNISM
FOR THE FUTURE

Creating an emotional connection with our modernist heritage

Kaunas has a hidden miracle. The time has come to reveal it.

This miracle consists of more than 6,000 buildings, designed in the modernist spirit and surviving to the present day. It is an open-air school of good taste and style. It also a museum of a beautiful life, dispersed through the streets, courtyards, and avenues of Kaunas – discovered, washed, and restored to its past glory every day. This is not just about buildings and sites, but also about those who built and cultivated them. And it is also about their fates. Having such a highly concentrated heritage, full of all sorts of individual stories and meanings, is an enormous treasure. It is a living testament to a period of flourishing and modernization that altered established daily habits and coincided with profound change in cities, settlements, and architecture in Europe and around the world.

Why was this miracle forgotten for so long? We posed this question as we prepared our competitive proposal for the title of European Capital of Culture, especially in view of the nomination of Kaunas in 2015 for the European Heritage Label, which helped restore Kaunas Modernism to a European and global context. We discussed how we could contribute to the success story of the preservation of this legacy in our city. Thus, one of the core values of the Modernism for the Future programme was rebuilding a love for our city's beauty. How could we accomplish this? By building a civically minded community of lovers and champions of modernism, a community capable of creatively examining the modernist legacy and its history.

And by retelling this wonderful history in an unexpected, intriguing, and universally understandable language!

Starting in 2017, the phenomenon of Kaunas Modernism has been successfully cultivated through a collaboration of Lithuanian and foreign architecture and cultural heritage preservation professionals, cultural organizations, and artists, seeking to foster an intellectual and creative dialogue, resulting in more than one hundred different international events and projects presenting audiences with new experiences, including conferences, forums, summer classes, symposiums, and discussions. What's more, the legacy of this period has also become an inspiration for contemporary art – the creation of interpretations of modernism and their appearance in the most unexpected urban spaces.

We hope that this is just the beginning, because our heritage has never been more alive, uniting, and interesting as it is today. We open 2022 by entering a new stage and a new relationship with modernism. Now, this modernism is even closer to us, particularly as we seek to understand our city and its identity by establishing a dialogue and searching for creativity for the future. I eagerly invite you to discover, rethink, and play. Why?

Because it's going to be fun.

KAUNAS MODERNISM 360/365: EVERYDAY LEGACY IN ART

How do we present a city as a museum?

How can we invite others to learn more about a great treasure that was scattered and forgotten for so many years?

How do we present exhibits if they are our homes and our perspective of those homes?

How do we create an exhibition of a charming daily life?

How can we remain academic, but become attractive?

The solution? To utilize cultural tools and invite artists.

The project Kaunas Modernism 360/365: Everyday Legacy in Art is an enormous undertaking. It alone would suffice for any European Capital of Culture programme.

For this reason, the project consists of many different events: exhibitions, festivals, workshops, tours, publications, performances, concerts, and a very special film production...

Local partner organizations, curators, and artists from Lithuania and abroad devoted five years to creating the components of a new language that can encompass the unique architectural features and the testimonials of the local community that embody Kaunas Modernism as a phenomenon. Thus, a social heritage became an inspiration to create new, relevant content, while architecture helped us discover the most suitable forms for that content. Film, dance, experimental and alternative music, painting, sculpture, design projects, and maps are just a few of the means for the interpretation and creative definition of a new understanding of the significance of our heritage and the enormous potential for present and future generations contained within the "living" walls of the city's buildings.

360 forms of modernism, 365 days in the year.

Some projects have already taken place, others continue, but the most important ones are yet to come.

We invite you to enjoy them – and read all about them on the following pages!

CONCERT SERIES

World Music

Modernism is not just architecture – it's also a philosophy. And one of the features of this philosophy is openness to the world.

Throughout its history, Kaunas has been known as a multicultural and open city. To remember and celebrate this fact, the organizers of GM Gyvai will present a special programme at the opening of the European Capital of Culture in 2022. The 2022 summer season will be enriched by a World Music Concert Series held in uncommon spaces in Kaunas and the Kaunas District. Most of these events will be free of charge. This unique musical programme will give audiences the chance to hear music from such distant places as the Tuva Republic, Mexico, Mali, South Africa, Brazil, Romania, Spain, the United States, and elsewhere.

PROJECT

Interpreting Modernism:
Design and the Visual Arts

This project has already taken place, but we are proud to mention it here.

A three-day creative workshop was organized together with foreign and local curators and guests. The workshop was held to discuss ways to transform the modernist heritage into works of contemporary design and satisfy the public interest. Workshop participants created their own visual interpretations inspired by Kaunas modernist architecture. Design principles, the visual and applied arts, as well as interdisciplinary art practices were utilized to create modernist-inspired design and art object prototypes.

Subjective Atlas of Kaunas Modernism

There are cities – and then there is MY city.

There are maps of cities, and then there's a map of MY CITY, marked with the things that are important to me. On this kind of map a small corner shop would be much larger than the biggest shopping centre, and the bridge I cross on my way to work is much more important than any other. My park will only be marked for the trees familiar to me and my dog.

This is how subjective atlases work. Kaunas 2022 has published the Subjective Atlas of Garliava Eldership Neighbourhoods, which was very well received by everyone.

So, together with Hugo Herrera Tobón, the creator of this idea, we have prepared and released the Subjective Atlas of Kaunas Modernism.

This atlas charts the existence of a growing and changing city through the personal perspective of its residents. The creative process was accompanied by a series of creative workshops during which local residents were invited to use various creative means to “map out” their daily lives, social concerns, and everyday artifacts. Personal engagement became the starting point for creating a human, unique, and honest image. The series of alternative and open cartographies emerging from this creative process is an inspiring and publicly accessible tool for critically questioning what appears to be objective and taken for granted.

The atlas will be available for purchase and will be featured in a special map exhibition (for more, see p. 58–61).

MUSIC PROGRAMME

Optimismo

Join us on a musical journey through modernist buildings!

This unique, innovative weekend musical programme will be performed at the phenomenally vast spaces of Kaunas' industrial modernist heritage and exclusive historical cultural objects. Much like the designers of Kaunas' modernist architecture with their political, social, economic, and cultural optimism, the creators of this music like to experiment with technology and are known for their virtuosity, the non-traditional structure of their pieces, and their unconventional creative methods. The music programme will combine different experiences, inviting audiences to participate, listen, and expand their understanding of sound and technological capabilities by 360 degrees.

EXHIBITION

ARNO FUNKtionalism

Who designed the present-day Kaunas Municipal Building?

This exhibition is dedicated to one of the city's most renowned interwar architects, engineers, and masters of interior design, Arnas Funkas (1898–1957). Funkas introduced the principles of functionalism to residential and public architecture and designed numerous representative examples of the style in Lithuania.

Arnas Funkas left his greatest imprint on Kaunas, where several of his beautifully designed projects can still be viewed today.

This show will present Funkas' work and explore the principles of interior and building architecture prevalent in his time and which became a unique feature of Kaunas, representing the city's architectural landscape.

The start of this exhibition will coincide with the opening of the Contemporary Myth of Kaunas Trilogy. Don't miss it!

EXHIBITION

100 Images of Kaunas

This exhibition perfectly symbolizes the idea of a city as a museum. To see it, you'll have to do a lot of walking – the best way to learn about all the treasures of Kaunas.

Kaunas and the surrounding region aren't home to just any old modernist buildings. They're legendary structures, full of intriguing stories!

The creators of this project invited Lithuanian visual artists to take part in a residency programme and reinvent the stories behind the buildings, re-telling them through different means of artistic expression. The historical and cultural research conducted by these artists over the course of two years is now presented in individual works displayed in public and private spaces throughout the city and the region. Art objects and installations specially created for the city's modernist buildings symbolically present 100 "message" images for future generations about the 20th century phenomenon that changed all of our lives.

PHOTOGRAPHY EXHIBITION

The Family of Man

Kaunas will host an exhibition that once enchanted New York, Paris, Milan, London, Zurich.

Indeed, this exhibition has become a legend. It is perhaps the longest touring exhibition in the world!

This collection of images was first curated in 1955 by Edward Steichen for the Museum of Modern Art (MOMA) in New York City. The collection then toured the world for eight years, breaking all exhibition attendance records. The Family of Man exhibition is an extensive presentation of humanistic photography as it existed at the time. It includes works by 273 photographers from 68 countries. Since its inception, the exhibition has been reimagined for numerous different art events and institutions. Since 1994, the exhibition has been on permanent display at Clervaux Castle in Luxembourg. In 2003, the collection of photographs included in the exhibition was inscribed in the UNESCO Memory of the World register. A portion of the exhibition's photographs will be displayed in the autumn of 2022 at the Kaunas Photography Gallery, featuring images by Nat Farbman, Nina Leen, Carl Mydans, Vito Fiorenza, and Robert Carrington.

This will be the first time images from The Family of Man exhibition will be shown in the Baltic countries.

Tour series and contemporary dance performances in modernist buildings

Here's what we'd like you to do: Visit the Ekskursas website to find the nearest organized walk near you, book it, and enter a Kaunas you've never seen before and never knew existed.

You'll discover hidden stairwells, cellars, lobbies, and halls, living rooms and elevators. You won't believe such things actually exist in Kaunas!

This is not some ghost tour. Our guides lead tours based on carefully selected academic sources and material.

Especially for Kaunas 2022, the Ekskursas team will offer tours with an additional programme in the spring and autumn to the most popular and famous modernist buildings. In collaboration with partners during the Grande Saison SanuaK (Germany) part of the programme, participants will be invited to experience unusual types of tours and join in a provocative Dadaist adventure. By the way, did you know that interwar Kaunas was not just home to Maironis, one of Lithuania's most famous poets, but also to a group of Dadaist poets? Programme curators: Yael Sherill and Lianne Mol (Germany).

The Icons of Modernism tours offered by Ekskursas through the modernist buildings of Kaunas include several surprises, including storytelling accompanied by contemporary dance interpretations. The Pulsating Modernism of Kaunas presents lively performances by the Aura Dance Theatre, under the direction of choreographer Birutė Letukaitė.

DISCUSSION AND MAGAZINE PRESENTATION

Experiencing Humanity

This discussion will be featured in the Kaunas 2022 Closing Days series.

A magazine devoted to contemporary humanistic photography published in collaboration with the National Audiovisual Centre in Luxembourg will be presented as part of this discussion. The magazine seeks to take a new look at contemporary people and search for new definitions of humanistic photography. The magazine's creative process draws on the successful six-year run of the Kaunas Photography Gallery's publication. For more see p. 274. Participants will be invited to a discussion about contemporary people, and how we view and portray them today. The event will also include a night-time slideshow and other events focused on the new publication.

A SENSORY PAVILION

Archi/Texture

Get ready to sense architecture in an entirely different way. Prepare yourself to feel architecture.

This project, organized by Rasa Chmieliauskaitė, takes the visually impaired community on a creative journey through architecture.

An experimental sensory pavilion under creation since 2020 will be taken in 2022 through different city spaces and invite audiences to participate in an alternative education programme for a different way of experiencing architecture.

Contemporary culture is visual and for most people sight is their dominant sense and their main tool for understanding their surroundings. But is sight alone sufficient?

The aesthetics of architecture manifest themselves not only in the image of a given creation, but also through sound, touch, and other characteristics that can affect a visitor and leave an enduring impression. News about this project will be published online.

EXHIBITION AND STUDY

Architecture of Lust

For adults only!

Or perhaps not just adults?

This is a curatorial project exploring the multi-faceted expressions of lust in architecture, and is a continuation of an international partnership begun in 2019 with a study entitled the Architecture of Shame in Matera, Italy. The project seeks to direct our focus at historical and contemporary sites that evoke, in one way or another, a feeling of shame associated with lust, sensuality, and sexuality. This non-conventional exhibition space created in 2022 will present the results of the project together with a publication and a map. The exhibition will also be accompanied by a series of lectures and workshops.

FESTIVAL

Inconvenient Films: Moving City Visions

The Inconvenient Films Festival already has a large following. This year, the festival has prepared a special programme for Kaunas 2022!

Inconvenient Films: Moving City Visions is a programme of events meant to provide an architectural and cinematographic experience. The film festival screens will briefly come to life in six undiscovered spaces within Kaunas modernist heritage buildings. The documentary film programme will seek to find connections between the stories of the individuals who created and lived here, amidst the realities of a contemporary city and the backdrop of global social, cultural, and environmental challenges. The ideas of modernism become the starting point for the creation of future urbanist visions.

Reclamation

We invite you to a modern exhibition about modernities.

This exhibition is three years in the making.

It was created by artists, curators, and researchers from Kaunas, Nice, Novi Sad and Derry/Londonderry, who participated in the DeMo (Decoding Modernity) residency programme. The creators of the residency analysed the process and course of modernity's development in different social and cultural contexts.

The results will be presented in the Reclamation exhibition, which will be held at different sites associated with the land reclamation process in the city of Kaunas.

URBAN ARCHITECTURE SYMPOSIUM

Critical Induction

Lithuania is seeing an increasing number of interdisciplinary studies, but this research remains mostly confined to closed academic conference halls and professional academic circles. At the same time, artists also have access to a number of unconventional studies about the life of urban residents and the urban environment, but the opportunities to publicize such formats are also often limited.

This symposium on urban architecture is being organized in response to the need to publicize diverse studies, increase their circulation, and facilitate a more open discourse about public urban spaces with the participation of a broader audience.

Kaunas Central Post Office

This exhibition is a very special report about the Kaunas 2022 Modernism Programme!

This event will become one of the highlights of the European Capital of Culture Opening Series

Over twenty artists and architects.

Five countries.

And a masterpiece of Lithuanian modernism – the Kaunas Central Post Office.

The exhibition Modernism for the Future 360/365 is devoted to a discussion about the future of the modernist heritage in contemporary European cities.

It seeks to illustrate the value of modernist architecture and its appeal to contemporary audiences, urban dwellers, specialists, and lovers of architecture.

One of the exhibition's goals is to encourage current residents and owners of modernist buildings to treasure their property and motivate the city to take pride in this legacy and present it to visitors and tourists.

The exhibition seeks to reinforce the European and intercontinental modernist heritage narrative and to show that this heritage, like every work of art, transcends the borders of individual cities and countries.

Toward this end, the project partners invited professional artists to collaborate with local researchers and the local community to create 17 art projects in 5 of the city's modernist buildings, using interdisciplinary approaches to interpret their history and give substance to their value today.

This exhibition is an enormous contribution to Lithuania and Kaunas, but also to other countries in Europe and around the world.

With this exhibition, Kaunas takes the lead in the very special report and finally establishes itself as a centre of world research, promotion, and attraction of modernism in the world.

The significance of Kaunas as a centre of global modernism will be one of the most important and enduring achievements long after the European Capital of Culture project comes to a close.

This exhibition is a “must see” for every Kaunasian.

It's quite possible this film will make Kaunas famous

Rolands Zilvinskis. The visualization of film "Pleats / Folds"

When Irish artist and filmmaker Aideen Barry first saw Kaunas, it took her breath away. “It was as if I’d found an extremely rare jewel. I’m surprised you’ve managed to hide this secret from the world for so long. Kaunas is full of exceptionally beautiful buildings covered in wonderful small details, unique windows, doors, and balconies that turn buildings into ships. It’s impressive.”

The result of Aideen’s fascination with Kaunas is a 45-minute silent film entitled “Pleats / Folds”, which she created together with residents of Kaunas.

The title “Pleats / Folds” is a metaphor about how time unfurls and unfolds like a piece of fabric. It is a metaphor about how certain things happen and how they repeat and come around again.

Folds are also an architectural trope, serving as recurring details in interwar modernism. Pleats also describe the film’s creative process: It is folded together from thousands of photographs to create the illusion that all of the images seen on the screen are moving and not static.

The film is not just a story about Kaunas. “Pleats / Folds” is itself a special work of art that transcends traditional limitations.

The film’s creative process was full of discoveries. Filming took place in some locations that were previously considered inaccessible, and special filming and sound processing techniques were used.

Because such a large group of Kaunas residents took part in the creative process, the film has also served as an enormous educational undertaking.

“The strength of this project lies in its inclusion of the community,” says curator Viltė Migonytė-Petruilienė. “We created this together with Kaunasian artists, writers, composers, actors, dancers, musicians, and volunteers. The creative process was also joined by hundreds of children, young people, new and experienced creative minds participating in creative writing, stop motion animation, greenscreening, and decoration production workshops that helped us set up filming locations, assisted filmmakers in production work, etc. The project sought to inspire the people of Kaunas and reinforce their interest in the city’s architectural and cultural heritage. Young future filmmakers directed and edited their own animated short films and contributed to the creation of parts of the film. A wonderful group of volunteers helped organize and conduct creative activities, participated in the filming of mass scenes, assisted with makeup for actors and dancers, helped prepare filming sets, and performed other important production roles that are not always seen on film.”

On 20-22 January, we’ll gather to see off the film “Pleats / Folds” as it departs for such international film festivals as Debut the Film in America, New York Film Makers Co-Op Manhattan, and elsewhere.

INTERNATIONAL MODERNISM SUMMER SCHOOL

Modernism for the Future

This school programme, organized annually for the past four years, has become hugely popular.

It's very important that the Summer School programme includes university students. Kaunas is a university town and many young people from all over Lithuania and the world live and study here for at least several years. In this Summer School programme, participants have the chance to not only learn more about Kaunas' architectural treasures, but also to enjoy a unique experience of the city as part of their studies.

The Summer School will invite students specialising in different fields as well as young professionals to discuss how to find a balance between objects possessing historical value and the needs of everyday life, and will discuss the importance of community activities for the creation of distinct localities and how they shape the overall cityscape.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

Modernism for the Future. Interpretations

This conference, now a tradition, will be dedicated to the symbolic closing of the programme developed over the course of five years.

Our work has demonstrated that Kaunas is a good place to discuss the legacy of the 20th century as a laboratory for cultural heritage, one in which today's interdisciplinary interpretations and stories are just as important as the authentic signs of the past.

Under the guidance of Vaidas Petrusis, the conference will promote discussion and dialogue between specialist from various fields. Speakers will share their knowledge of good practices and insights about modernism as an inspiration for creativity, and discuss examples of the artistic communication of modernist architecture and how they are important in the discussion of possible visions for the future of heritage preservation.

All conference remarks will be published in a colourful publication.

European Heritage Days Events

Have you ever joined a protest against the demolition of cultural heritage?

Architecture is a unique art. It creates spaces for us and for our dreams. In our homes, we eat, sleep, and love one another, but our homes can also inspire us or weigh us down. In the same way, every building and every public or private space is also the creation of those who designed it and who live there.

Given its exceptional architecture, Kaunas has inevitably become a centre for studying that heritage.

The European Capital of Culture Modernism Programme devotes considerable attention to the promotion of academic research, an activity that helps us develop a better understanding of and greater appreciation for the city's physical body.

This is why the events associated with the European Heritage Days in 2022 will occupy such a special place in our programme. These heritage workshops and encounters with professionals, organized annually since 2017, include local preservationists to create an opportunity to see and learn more about practical cultural heritage management issues and delve deeper into specific aspects related to cultural heritage, by providing instruction and offering practical experience. Consultation sessions help provide residents with answers to their questions about research, proper management, and engagement opportunities. These types of events also serve as an alternative discussion and meeting space for cultural heritage theoreticians, practitioners, and representatives of institutions and the preservationist community.

MEMORY
OFFICE

Preserving the fragments of a multiethnic memory

I feel that the Memory Office programme is an effort by all of us to not only learn more about our city's past and study its DNA, but also to discover more about ourselves.

This programme stems from a desire to stop living as if we'd lost our memory, avoiding telling ourselves the truth about what once existed in our city.

This programme emerged from the realization that thousands of people who had once lived in Kaunas and planned their futures here are no longer among us, much like the large communities that once lived in small towns throughout the Kaunas District. With their disappearance we also saw the permanent loss of what was once part of Zapyškis, Čekiškės, and Vandžiogala. Those who did survive scattered, along with the memories torn from these places, to the different corners of the world: the United States, Israel, South Africa, Poland...

This programme is one of many endeavours to preserve the fragments of a multiethnic memory and reconstruct vanishing "memory maps". We want to dismantle the enduring stereotype of Kaunas as "the most Lithuanian city" and rediscover the rich layers of a multiethnic past. We want to remember the fates of those who came before us. We want to restore the faces of those from whom we inherited this city and whose names have been so mercilessly erased by history.

The Memory Office team views Kaunas as a contemporary European city, which is why we, together with artists and our partners, encourage the values of dialogue, empathy, and openness toward one another. As we revisit the lessons of the past we hope to encourage an open discussion: What kind of city do we want today? What sort of future do we hope to create here?

We developed the Kaunas European Capital of Culture 2022 programme together with our partners in Lithuania and abroad. We benefitted in particular from the active participation of Litvak artists who have returned to Lithuania from South Africa, Great Britain, France, and Israel. Exhibitions, performances, and concerts will speak not only about the stories of the past and study our city's identity, they will also call us to begin creating a new page in the history of this city and a new story of reconciliation and dialogue.

The Memory Office online

Two virtual sites have been created to systematically collect the stories of the people of Kaunas, and they have become not only priceless testimonials of the past, but also an inspiration for new artistic projects of the Kaunas 2022 programme. A digital archive entitled atmintiesvietos.lt/en, created in 2014, receives and collects authentic stories of former and current Kaunas residents, eyewitness accounts of historical events, virtual tours, and texts written about the city. Through this website, the city's urban landscape is presented as a map of a collective memory in which the various forms of material memory – buildings, streets, courtyards, squares, monuments, museums, public spaces, etc. – reveal a hidden and forgotten past.

In 2019, a new virtual urban story site was born in tandem with the CityTelling Festival.

The site, istorijufestivalis.eu/en, contains original literary texts that resurrect the city's memory, the extraordinary stories of the people of Kaunas that have inspired festivals and artists and which help us to better understand ourselves and find an answer to that most important question: Who are we?

We are proud to present this book as our programme's most important publication project!

www.kaunas2022.eu

The Jews of Kaunas is the first attempt to present a large collection of material about the history of the city's Jews in one publication. Like other projects organized by the Memory Office, the book is an attempt to understand the city's complicated past, rekindle its multiethnic memory, and remember the names and accomplishments of the people of Kaunas who once lived here and their contributions to its history. It is also an endeavour to include the history of the Jews of Kaunas as an inseparable part of the overall history of the city. Finally, it is our own effort to better know our history and ourselves.

This book does not claim to provide comprehensive answers to every question about the history, culture, and traditions of Jews in Kaunas. Rather, it is an attempt to present Kaunas' Jewish history beginning with its most important facts, concepts, and names. We begin our review of the history of one of Kaunas' largest ethnic groups in the 15th century and the first Jewish settlement in the city and proceed from there to recall the names of the most important citizens of Kaunas who lived and worked in the city, remembering their contributions to education, medicine, industry, business, culture, and other aspects of life and, of course, the more painful chapters of the community's history.

This book deserves a place in the home libraries of many Kaunasians, and not just those of Jewish heritage, because it tells the story about a city and that city's people, who are an integral part of Kaunas.

Wall Stories

Walls can talk.

bit.ly/SienosPasakoja

Kaunas has come to be known in Europe as a city of street art. Indeed, Kaunas has always had a thriving culture of legal and illegal wall drawings. The graffiti created on the alleys, underground passageways, and fire walls of Kaunas are constantly finding their way into international street art catalogues.

Public spaces in Kaunas & Kaunas District

To commemorate the people and events that are special for our city we've invited street artists to help with their visual expression.

This effort gave birth to several works of art in different spaces around the city and the Kaunas District, commemorating local history, recalling the faces of those who lived here, telling their stories, and presenting their culture. With this project, Kaunas and the Kaunas District have seen the return of the poet Lea Goldberg, the charismatic Rosian and her mother Gerta, and other Kaunasians of different ethnicities.

The number of these important street drawings continues to grow, so as you wander through Kaunas remember to look up and stop a moment and read the texts accompanying the images.

History awaits you!

EXHIBITION

That Which We Do Not Remember

by William Kentridge

For the first time in Eastern Europe.

This will be a hugely significant event for both Kaunas and the artist himself, as William Kentridge will be visiting the city of his ancestors!

Kentridge grew up in Johannesburg, South Africa, a city marked by the contrasts of both wonderful natural beauty and an industrial landscape. He began creating art during the apartheid regime, so his works are infused with a sensitive sense of place and difficult subjects: human rights, racial and economic inequality, revolution, the confounding confrontation between noble ideals and the shameful aspects of everyday life that undermine human dignity. Political, civic, and social themes are the distinguishing features of Kentridge's work. In addition, the artist ingeniously combines acute content and powerful aesthetics, challenging the preconceptions and stereotypical beliefs of his audiences.

The exhibition That Which We Do Not Remember will compel you to forget stereotypes.

In this exhibition, Kentridge addresses humanity's selective memory. The rejection of facts, history, and memories as a means of self-preservation or a tool of propaganda is just as common a characteristic among people in Johannesburg and Rome as it is in Kaunas, says Kentridge. We all choose what we wish to remember and what to expel from our memories. Kentridge hopes to fill these gaps in our memory and speak with us about what we deliberately, or unconsciously, no longer remember.

He calls us to a dialogue with ourselves.

This is an exhibition that seeks to assemble the scattered shards of historic events into meaningful mosaics that can serve as a mirror, reflecting back those who look at them.

This promises to be the most significant exhibition of the Kaunas 2022 programme.

This exhibition alone is worthy of a trip to Kaunas and will put the city on the European cultural map for years to come.

Programme devoted to “Kaunas Spring” events

After the onset of the Soviet occupation, Kaunas, once the provisional capital of a free country, was thrown into a paradoxical existence. From the first days of the occupation, the Soviets deliberately chose to impoverish and humiliate the city, disbanding humanitarian studies, suppressing modern cultural forms, promoting the city’s “technocratization”, and building and supporting a myth of Kaunas as a provincial city lacking in culture and beholden to mercantile interests. The people of Kaunas locked themselves up in their kitchens, drew the curtains closed, and withdrew to their cellars. But they didn’t forget freedom. An underground life flourished in Kaunas, including clandestine monasteries, a secret printing house in the Kaunas District, and defiant cultural activists – theatre artists, musicians, painters, etc. – helping to support a free spirit.

But perhaps the most significant pivotal moment in the city’s history occurred in 1972. The self-immolation of 19-year-old Romas Kalanta on 14 May of that year and the events that followed his protest gave rise to the so-called “Kaunas Spring”, with thousands of people joining anti-Soviet protests, mostly held on Laisvės Alėja. These events left a traumatic mark not only on the city’s subsequent development and cultural life, but also on the futures of many young people of Kaunas. These historic events will be remembered in the Kaunas 2022 programme through performances, exhibitions, concerts, discussions, gatherings, etc.

14 May is commemorated in Lithuania as the Day of Civil Resistance.

EXHIBITION

1972: Breaking through the Wall

We are sure that this exhibition will touch a nerve.

Through this exhibition, our city will engage in a candid conversation with itself like never before.

It will transport audiences to the 1960s and 1970s and the communities of disobedient people who resisted the system: illegal rock music bands, Kaunas actors and pantomime performers, rebellious hippies, and modern artists from Kaunas and Vilnius.

Paintings, photographs, and films, documentary testimonials of the city's musical life, youth fashion from the period, and other artifacts will tell the story of an alternative culture and a non-Soviet lifestyle led in Soviet Lithuania.

This exhibition is extremely visual, revealing a diversity of mindsets and creative endeavours against the backdrop of an all-leveilling Soviet existence. It explores how aesthetic tastes and ethical attitudes in the Soviet period shaped other models of daily life and an atmosphere of disobedience toward the government.

"This exhibition emphasizes the problem of personal liberty, intrinsically linked to resisting coercion and oppression. For the first time, it will explore how society and art were influenced by the pressure imposed by official institutions and what reciprocal results this pressure produced in culture," says the exhibition's curator Rasa Žukienė. "What began in Europe after the events of 1968 is a story of protests, revolts, and coming together. The parallels between the images of freedom and the creative ideas and forms shaped by societies in the East (in the Socialist Bloc) and West are obvious. To date, however, these parallels are still insufficiently emphasized and perhaps even forgotten. This exhibition is a wonderful demonstration of the ideas of European freedom and cultural affinity that endured even in the captive societies of Lithuania and neighbouring countries."

CONCERT

Made in Kaunas

This is a concert for those who grew up with Radio Luxembourg.

The musical programme of Made in Kaunas is dedicated to the memory of Kaunas of the 1960s and 1970s and the city's musicians. This was a time of the hippy movement, of secretly listening to Radio Luxembourg (which introduced Lithuania to the music of Jimmy Hendrix, The Doors, Deep Purple, Led Zeppelin, and The Beatles), and a time of band rehearsals in basements and garages, and the birth of Lithuanian rock music and such bands as Gėlių vaikai (Flower Children), Aitvarai (The Kites), Gintarėliai (Little Ambers), Eglutės (The Pines), and others.

The big beat songs performed at this concert by Gėlių vaikai and Pievų oras (Field Air) and others will recall the lives and stories of several generations of Kaunasians and the wholesome content of these songs. Some 20 of the most popular song arrangements will be performed.

“The endless desire to live freely, listen to the latest music streaming in from outside the Iron Curtain, and to create music ourselves – this aura of a past time reaches out to us from our younger days and the memories of our parents,” says composer Zita Bružaitė, the project's director.

Mark down the concert date on your calendars, because this chance may never come around again.

This event will commemorate the staging at the Kaunas Drama Theatre of Juozas Grušas' Barbora Radvilaitė, directed by Jonas Jurašas, exactly 50 years ago, on 20 April 1972, a performance that was met with disapproval from government authorities. This historic event and the legendary director who refused to bow to Soviet censorship will be remembered by eye witnesses, including the creators of the performance, actors, critics, and others. Attendees will also have the chance to view an exhibition entitled Jonas Jurašas: The Price of Existence.

THEATRE PLAY

Kalanta

A production by the National Kaunas Drama Theatre intertwines documentary material and a contemporary view of the events in Kaunas in 1972. Director Jonas Tertelis asks how the act of 19-year-old Romas Kalanta resonates in today's society. The moods, expectations, and tensions of the time are analyzed and become a surreal fragment of collective memory in the big picture of the liberation movements in Europe and the world. Are these events just the past, or is history repeating itself, and what trap are you in?

The opening of this production promises to be an extraordinary event in theatre, for which Kaunas has always been well famous.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

Forgiving or Forgetting – Dealing with the Painful Past

This academic discussion will analyse an acute dilemma facing contemporary society: How do we deal with the painful history of the 20th century? Do we conveniently forget about it and allow different interpretations of the past to flourish, or do we delve deeper into these events in search of forgiveness and consensus?

This conference aims to discuss the prevailing historical narrative about the Second World War that has taken root in society, and at the same time introduce the smaller, personal stories of memory. It seeks to explore not only the stories considered important to the people of Kaunas, but also the traumatic experiences of other nations. It is hoped that the combination of global and local perspectives in the analysis of complex historical periods will help us better understand the problematic choices of those who participated in that history and encourage a process of reconciliation with a painful past. Some portions of the conference will be devoted to commemorating the anniversary of Romas Kalanta's death, the academic discussions being organized on that occasion, and associated special art events.

FIFTH INTERNATIONAL LEONIDAS DONSKIS ACADEMIC CONFERENCE

Is Historical Revisionism Becoming Mainstream?

Leonidas Donskis was part of the Kaunas European Capital of Culture 2022 team and contributed greatly to the awarding of this title to the city and to the Kaunas 2022 programme.

He was also one of Kaunas' most prominent citizens, whose creative, professional, and civic endeavours and embrace of openness and tolerance had a profound impact far beyond the academic world. This conference is held annually in memory of this eminent thinker, philosopher, and beloved member of the Vytautas Magnus University community, and is traditionally accompanied by a memorial charity concert.

Participants in this year's conference will share their practical experience and insights gained in various countries about how to avoid the manipulation of history. Can history endure as an impartial science studying the past, or is it destined to become an instrument of power? Is history still in danger of becoming dependent on the political will of governments in democratic and undemocratic countries alike?

THE CITY AND ITS PEOPLE

EXHIBITION

Kaunas-Vilnius: Moving Mountains

89

Kaunas and Vilnius, Vilnius and Kaunas. The two largest cities in Lithuania. Competing, often disagreeing, but vital for each other.

The pride and prejudice enveloping the life of Vilnius and Kaunas hold a hidden truth – these cities need each other, otherwise, they are doomed to a “caricature of existence”. This was written a hundred years ago by Mykolas Römeris. This is what this exhibition by MO museum and Kaunas city museum – exhibited at the same time in Vilnius and Kaunas – talks about. It opens up the foundational interdependence between these two cities, how they formed each other and how present-day Lithuania emerged from the tension between them.

“Mountains” help us to understand the artistic, cultural, and political interaction between these two cities – as a key metaphor of centrality, an obstacle, a challenge, autonomy, and protection. With the use of four key mountains, emerging in the narrative of the exhibition, - Gediminas Mountain, Žaliakalnis, Boufal Mountain, and Owl Mountain – new forms of interaction between Kaunas and Vilnius emerge. The story told here highlights how these two centers– two acropolises – formed, and how they morphed from the idea of the center of Lithuania into a sense of inadequacy as capitals. One of the questions raised in the exhibition is what does it mean to be a resident of one of the two poles – a Kaunas or Vilnius inhabitant; and how their identity as city dwellers is constructed – its certainty, exclusivity, autonomy, stereotypes, and myths.

Cities are also considered as necropolises, where we physically and symbolically bury, say goodbye and memorialize. In these rituals of memory, we show how the cities comprehend themselves, what they strive to keep and what – to throw away, and what differences emerge between the two. In the exhibition, we examine the connections and exchanges between Kaunas and Vilnius – from natural to symbolic, from the vision of a dipole to a doubling identity, from cultural donations to vampirism in the workforce.

The mountains and motifs of the exhibition repeat themselves in the exhibition halls of both museums, but they tell different stories. In this way the concept and architecture of the exhibition in itself embodies the römeresque necessity for Vilnius and Kaunas to be together: if you want to see the entirety of the exhibition, you have to visit both cities.

EXHIBITION

Stories of the House

The historical palace commonly known as the residence of the Presidents of Lithuania (1919–1940) has reshaped itself. Time portals will take you to seven epochs: the Governor's Palace, the Ober Ost Commander's residence, the Presidential Palace, the house of the Supreme Council Presidium, Nazi Headquarters, the Teachers' House and the revived historical palace. The motley list of its residents and visitors includes Tsars, Kaisers, military commanders, artists and even a Pope! The palace is as if a crossroads of the history of Kaunas and entire Europe.

The new exhibition will surprise city residents and its guests: here, history can be seen, heard, touched, smelled...

Exhibition "Stories of the House" is accessible to a variety of audiences: a remotely operating guide compatible with tablets has been prepared in Lithuanian, English, Russian and German, in Lithuanian Sign Language and as a Lithuanian version for the blind. Visitors will be able to touch copies of the most interesting exhibits specially adapted for the blind and hear audio recordings. In 2022, accessibility will be expanded further: tactile schemes and an informative marking system will be installed, and comics will be designed for the young.

Visitors of broadest variety of interests are welcome.

EVENT SERIES

The Industrial Past in Kaunas and Esch-sur-Alzette

The Luxembourg city of Esch-sur-Alzette will also share the title of European Capital of Culture in 2022. Esch may be far from Kaunas, but both cities inherited industrial ruins – both physical and spiritual – from their not so distant past.

Kaunas and Esch-sur-Alzette have joined forces to bring the history of industry back from oblivion and invite you to a series of events: the exhibitions WCH and The Great Industry, and the stage production Darbas/Aarbeicht (Labour).

This series is an attempt to speak about our histories without omissions: an open discussion about topical issues.

EXHIBITION

Working Class Heroes

The Kaunas Picture Gallery presents an exhibition by MUAR/Museum of Labour History entitled Working Class Heroes. The show explores three working class heroes of the early 20th century: Jean Pierre Bausch, Léon Weirich, and Jean Schortgen.

This interactive exhibition reveals the daily life and labours of the industrial southern region of Luxembourg – its hopes and dreams and the tense struggle for workers' rights. The exhibition poses questions: Who built this country and who represents your rights? How far have we come in labour law?

MUAR/Museum of Labour History was established in Tétange, in a factory that once made shoes for coal miners. The museum seeks to focus attention on subjects relevant to the world of work. The museum's abbreviation, MUAR, means tomorrow. Thus, the ideas explored there are not limited to the industrial past, but are also firmly connected to the present and the future.

This is a very unique topic within the contemporary Lithuanian context. It's worth a visit!

EXHIBITION

The Great Industry

Kaunas is taking its own exhibition to Luxembourg.

Since 2017, the community platform "Backup Stories" (curated by Auksė Petruilienė) located in the Kaunas Picture Gallery has organized exhibitions together with former employees of factories in Kaunas. The most interesting exhibition ideas, exhibits, and works of contemporary art of this series entitled The Great Industry will form a select exhibition to be shown at MUAR.

The exhibitions of The Great Industry series give a voice to the long-silent factory workers community - people whose destinies have been crushed twice: first swallowed up by the Soviet planned economy, then by the wild privatization that followed independence. Based on the stories of those who endured this experience, the exhibition delves into eternal contradictions and tensions: between true knowledge and illusion, history and fiction, machine and man, formal and private, painful and funny.

PERFORMANCE

Darbas/Aarbeicht (Labour)

This production follows in the footsteps of Lithuanians and Luxembourgers.

The Psilikon Theatre Company invites audiences from both countries to a premiere.

The production's storyline resulted from a coincidence. When MUAR/Museum of Labour History was being established in an old coalmining shoes factory in 2020, the attention of the "Back-Up Stories" programme in Kaunas was focused on the Inkaras rubber shoe factory. This explains why the production incorporates the metaphor of shoes, feet, and stepping – encouraging us to find a basic rhythm which can, by firmly planting our feet, help us retain our humanity despite the dramatic economic and social changes around us. The production's actors are miniature, flexible silicone figurines that embody many characters, including Kairys (Left) and Dešinys (Right) Coal Miner's Shoes, Defective Pair of Inkaras Sports Shoes, Lost Mittens, etc.

This is a co-production of the Museum of Labour History and the Psilikon Theatre Company.

Performances will be staged live in both cities.

MUSEUM

Atomic Bunker

Many in Lithuania are already familiar with this museum, but it has also become popular with foreign tourists.

The unique Atomic Bunker Museum features a collection of thousands of treasures recounting the history of interwar Lithuania, the Cold War era, both World Wars, and KGB activities in Soviet-occupied Lithuania. Indeed, the Atomic Bunker includes artifacts you won't see anywhere else, including the largest collection of gas masks and closed-circuit respirators in the Baltic countries. The museum is located 6 meters underground, in a Soviet-era fallout shelter built to protect civilians during war and natural disasters.

On the occasion of the year of Kaunas as European Capital of Culture, the museum invites visitors to an expanded exhibition. This newest show is devoted to commemorating the Jewish contribution to Lithuanian commerce and features an authentic recreation of two interwar-era shops.

MOBILE APPS FOR EXPLORING THE CITY

Kosmos App

Download this app, pick up your phone, and go out into the city to experience history!

We're excited to present a digital audio and performance platform showcasing three stories.

To hear these stories, make your way to the following spots:

Ramybės Park: Crossroads of Four Religions, an audio collage.

When activated in Ramybės Park (Kaunas Old Cemetery), the old city cemetery of Kaunas, this app will present stories collected from authentic documentary recordings and voice-overs read by professional actors, exploring things such as the events of All Souls' Day in 1956, the traditions of four different religions, and Lithuania's War of Independence. These accounts are accompanied by music and a special sound design.

Ninth Fort: Reconciliation, an audio composition. This is a musical memory track, connecting the Ninth Fort Museum, the Kaunas fortress complex, and the Ninth Fort Monument. The echoes of past upheaval call us to walk through this site and experience an emotional transformation, to feel the cultural trauma caused by the dramatic political changes of the 20th century. At the same time, this composition will encourage listeners to consider contemporary society's relationship with history and lead them toward a greater understanding of and reconciliation with historical trauma.

Aleksotas (Vytautas the Great) Bridge. Absolute World, an audio composition. Recounted in the neighbourhood of Aleksotas and the Kaunas Old Town, this story will immerse listeners into the intellectual world of internationally-renowned scientists Oskar Minkowski (1858–1931) and his brother Hermann Minkowski (1864–1909), who spent their childhood in Kaunas, and will explore the ties linking historic Kaunas and the discoveries uncovered by these two men. The journey taken every morning by these two brothers across Vytautas the Great Bridge to a secondary school in the Kaunas Governorate becomes the starting point for this programme. In their day, however, this bridge not only joined two river banks, it spanned two different eras.

EVENT SERIES

CityTelling Festival

Launched in 2019, this initiative gathers together artists, museum and theatre professionals, librarians, amateur history enthusiasts, and professional tellers of history. Together, we seek to resurrect forgotten stories, strengthen the dialogue between different communities, and encourage pride in the place where we live.

The 2022 CityTelling Festival has grown into an expansive programme unfolding over several months, combining projects of different genres, forms, and themes: exhibitions, productions, concerts, public art creations, tours, and professional storytelling performance programmes, etc.

The programme devotes considerable attention to the city's Jewish memory. The highlight of this programme will be Kaunas 2022 Litvak Culture Forum and the programme's main events – exhibitions, staged productions, and concerts – devoted to fostering a greater understanding of the city's Litvak roots and, at the same time, to healing the wounds of historical memory.

We invite everyone to participate in the festival's events, follow its programme, and support our initiative by continuing this festival after the European Capital of Culture programme has come to a close.

Kaunas 2022 Litvak Culture Forum

In 2022, the Kaunas European Capital of Culture will invite Litvaks scattered throughout the world to return, even if only briefly, to their ancestral land and gather together at the World Litvak Forum.

Over several days, this event will feature a rich cultural programme and discussions with renowned artists, academics, and representatives of the cultural world. We'll discuss the Litvak identity, memory, and cultural role in the creation of possible visions of a future dialogue.

We'll ask such questions as:

What does it mean to be a Litvak and what does Lithuania mean to different generations of Litvaks today?

How can art and culture help us understand history and encourage openness and dialogue?

What role do Litvaks play in Lithuania's historical and collective memory?

The development of the forum's programme benefited from the contributions of a respected advisory council of Litvaks and Lithuanians and renowned professionals from various fields:

Antony Polonsky, author, Professor Emeritus of Holocaust Studies at Brandeis University (South Africa, United Kingdom). Peter Salovey, President and Chris Argyris Professor of Psychology, Yale University, Honorary Doctor of Vytautas Magnus University (United States). James E. Young, author and distinguished University Professor Emeritus, Founding Director of the Institute for Holocaust, Genocide, and Memory Studies, University of Massachusetts Amherst (United States). Tsvia Walden, psycholinguist, Professor at Ben Gurion University of the Negev (Israel). Zev Krengel, Vice President of South African Jewish Board of Deputies (South Africa). Šarūnas Liekis, Dean and Professor of the School of Political Science and Diplomacy at Vytautas Magnus University (Lithuania). Kaunas Kantata Audiences are invited to an unforgettable event at the Kaunas Žalgiris Arena.

The world premiere of a cantata specially composed for Kaunas by Philip Miller (South Africa)!

This composition, created over several years, is the result of a collaboration with artist Jenny Kagan (Great Britain), director Chris Baldwin (Great Britain) and local musicians. The work is an inclusive musical experience, calling listeners to immerse themselves in a multiethnic city's past and Kaunas' complicated history.

It is also a moving juncture of images and sound encouraging us to examine our own consciences.

The work was inspired by personal testimonials, memories, and a rich and multifaceted world of sound. Its creators ask: What does it mean to look into the face of "the other" and confront ourselves, and to look directly into the face of our own humanity? The music and songs featured in this project are a way to help us find commonality, discover shared bonds among painful stories, and build a new relationship with a controversial history.

"In Kaunas Kantata we hear a multitude of voices. We listen to songs in different tongues and in different spaces. And yet there are encounters, there are juxtapositions, there are moments of harmony and moments of discord, moments of cacophony and moments of silence, and moments when the sound becomes one," says the composer.

This musical journey has been joined by over one hundred local musicians and singers, choirs, and representatives of different genres and generations.

EXHIBITION

Out of Darkness

This exhibition was first held in Great Britain.

Aug – Oct 2022

Now, it's being remounted especially for Kaunas.

Gimnazijos g. 2/4

Why? Because that's where its story unfolded.

Artist Jenny Kagan (Great Britain) has revived her parents' stories about their experiences in Kaunas during the Holocaust. The setting of this exhibition, created through images, music, projections, and other elements, draws viewers into a very personal and at the same time universal story, inviting them to explore their emotions and experiences in the presence of memory, light, and darkness.

“They met in the ghetto in 1943. She was only 18 years old. It is a story of oppression and persecution, of unimaginable loss and terror, and yet ultimately it is also a story of love and a story of survival,” says Kagan. “While those around them perished, they escaped the ghetto and survived the war in hiding, with the help of their Lithuanian saviours. You are invited to navigate your own journey through an atmosphere laden landscape, where faces float in the darkness, suitcases open to reveal magical interiors, hidden corners invite you in and stories unfold.”

MUSICAL PLAY

The Dybbuk

A mystical premiere!

Once upon a time, in the early 20th century, Simon Ansky wrote a play full of magic, mysticism, and symbolic meaning called The Dybbuk. It was beloved not only by Jews, but also by audiences of other European nations. In the 1930s, The Dybbuk was performed by two of the best known Jewish theatre companies, the Vilna Troupe (Vilner Trupe) and Habima.

A film based on The Dybbuk was made in Poland in 1937.

Eventually, in the present day, the Sala-Manca Collective (Israel) mounted a sound production combining music and actors' voices with images from the film to create an extraordinary experience.

This silent film will be accompanied by music and sounds performed by the Kaunas Symphony Orchestra and a group of Israeli actors who will rekindle the mystical mood of the stage production based on ghost stories.

This performance is highly recommended for all lovers of mysteries and secrets!

The Path of Reconciliation,
a procession and Nabucco, an opera
by Giuseppe Verdi

A historic procession and a premiere.

All people of Kaunas, regardless of their ethnic background or beliefs, are invited to join a procession marking the anniversary of the liquidation of the Kaunas ghetto, commemorated in Lithuania on 14 July.

Because, first and foremost, we are citizens of Kaunas and everything that happens or has occurred in this city is the responsibility of all of us.

A procession of the living will retrace the path tread by the inhabitants of the Kaunas ghetto during the Great Action, from Vilijampolė to the Ninth Fort. The Path of Reconciliation will be accompanied by art installations highlighting the event's historic and emotional aspects. A performance of Giuseppe Verdi's opera Nabucco, directed by Kęstutis S. Jakštas, will take place at the end of this symbolic path. The project space, the Ninth Fort, is the perfect place to shed light on conflicts of values, the subject of oppression and suffering, and the hope of liberation.

Follow news about this event and join the procession.

PROJECT

Ecce homo: Those Who Stayed and Those Who Left

A special project at the Ninth Fort in Kaunas and the National Museum of Resistance in Luxembourg includes the collaboration of artist Bruce Clarke (France) and choreographer Tebby W. T. Ramasike (Netherlands).

A joint interdisciplinary project between two European Capitals of Culture will shed light on tragic memory themes from the Second World War and will imbue them with new relevance in the context of the present.

One of the links of the project is the historical fact about the 73rd convoy, which arrived at the Ninth Fort carrying people from France in 1944.

Bruce Clarke, the author of visual installation says: "The project will be created at a site impregnated with memories, the Ninth Fort. And although the echoes of my family's story, and those who survived, is but a small reason behind the work of art and my coming to Kaunas, it is an artistic attempt to draw attention to the weight of History, so that we might better understand our present."

The installation will be complemented by a dance performance "The Wreckage Of My Flesh" by Tebby W. T. Ramasike, created especially for the European Capital of Culture project.

The choreographer says: "My interest in the Holocaust is to look at the images of these people being taken to the gas chambers, thinking of the transformation of their bodies in the sense of deformation, finally disintegrating into nothingness – to ashes in the earth. The latter state leads me to think of connectivity with nature – where nothingness exists in the form of non-existence."

In the autumn 2022 the project will be also presented in Esch-sur-Alzette (Luxembourg) and Thil (France).

PERFORMANCES IN PUBLIC SPACES

The Youth Talk about War

On 23 September, when Lithuania commemorates Holocaust Remembrance Day, the young generation of Kaunas participating in this project will ask audiences: What would you do if war knocked on your door?

Unfortunately, war is a subject that continues to remain relevant to today's generations.

The youth of Kaunas will invite audiences to listen to the forgotten stories of the Second World War and consider the challenges posed by contemporary history. After listening to stories recounted by a prior generation of Kaunas residents, the eyewitnesses to war, the project's participants worked with professional theatre directors from Holland and Lithuania to create a theatrical retelling to be presented in one of the city's public spaces.

The idea for this project was conceived at the Theatre Na de Dam in Amsterdam. For several years, its creators have been involving young people in meaningful conversations about the memory of the Second World War and what the war means to us today.

DOCUMENTARY THEATRE PLAY

A Half

Everything in this premiere production will be real. All of the dialogue and all of the stories – actually happened.

This is a story about Lithuanians in Poland and Poles in Lithuania. The grandparents of the production's director, Jakub Tabisz, arrived in Poland from Vilnius. But it is a contemporary story that poses questions about us and our imagined ideal of a homeland. In a time of newly rising nationalism and when painful history is being rewritten or erased, the creators of this production hope to capture a living moment as it is experienced today between two different nations who live side by side.

In one of Kaunas' neighbourhoods, there are buildings that were only half-completed. Half of a building symbolizes the history of many Lithuanians and Poles, a story of two nations sharing a common history and common enmity. But we also have the same streets, the same Adam Mickiewicz, and the same sense of humour.

This documentary theatre production will feature actors playing living characters.

All the words, stories, and characters in this production – are all real.

THEATRE PLAY

The Face

A premiere from two European theatres.

This production is dedicated to the memory of the renowned Kaunas-born French philosopher Emmanuel Levinas and his humanistic work.

The project has been created by theatres in two European Capitals of Culture, Kaunas and Esch-sur-Alzette. The production explores Levinas' philosophical ideas about the Other and responsibility. According to Levinas, encountering the Other is an essential, transformative event in a person's existence. The existence of the Other, by his very face, questions us and invites us to accept responsibility. Only the Other is capable of forcing us out of our innate, "natural" preoccupation with our own existence, and forcing us out of our egoism.

PHOTOGRAPHY EXHIBITION

The Last Litvaks

Litvak Michael Shubitz was born in Israel, in a family of Kaunas Jews who survived the Holocaust. The only object his father kept to remind him of Lithuania was his family's portrait taken at a photo studio in Vilka- viškis in 1920.

Shubitz will be returning to Kaunas with 12 large format photographs capturing the last Litvaks of Kaunas. The old photograph of his father's family inspired him to create portraits of former Kaunas residents with the same photographic techniques.

Many of the people captured in these photographs endured the hell of the Holocaust. Others managed to leave Kaunas for Palestine before the start of World War II. "I want to return them to Kaunas, which they left so many years ago," says Shubitz.

Window to Jewish Life in Kaunas before the Holocaust

This exhibition and its accompanying catalogue will display various unique, authentic documents: photographs, medals, letters, envelopes, receipts, business cards, invitations, etc. The exhibition, based on a collection of Lithuanian Judaica assembled by Michailas Duškesas, opens a window into the thriving life of the Kaunas Jewish community that was destroyed by the Holocaust. It peers behind the curtain of the Jewish religious world, introducing viewers to various political and social movements, economic and educational activities, and tells the story of the important Jewish contribution to Lithuania's economy, culture, and education.

PUBLIC ART INSTALLATION

Threshold

During this project, residents and businesses in the city centre will be invited to “welcome” mezuzahs, Jewish traditional decorative cases mounted on doorposts, created by artist Jyll Bradley (Great Britain). Her work is also a metaphor for the idea of individual, personal light, to which everyone who agrees to display a mezuzah can contribute.

Mezuzahs are small boxes containing scrolls of parchment that are traditionally nailed diagonally across the right side of a doorframe or courtyard entranceway. It is believed that mezuzahs protect the home from misfortune.

Bradley has created a stylized object made from organic glass and wood containing a visual mezuzah “identity” in place of the traditional scroll. With her work, Bradley hopes to return the mezuzah symbol to the streets of Kaunas, which was once home to so many Jews.

EXHIBITION

Spaces / Overcome Distances

The creators of the exhibition Vytenė Muschick, Gintarė Valevičiūtė-Brazauskienė and Jurga Graf invite audiences to view a creative interpretation of the life of physician and writer Dalia Grinkevičiūtė. Through moving images, virtual reality, animation, and the experience of sounds and smells, this interactive multimedia installation will immerse visitors into the unusual spaces and almost insurmountable distances described in Grinkevičiūtė's memoir, “Lithuanians by the Laptev Sea”, about her Siberian exile. The exhibition is based on the different stages in the author's life: her childhood in interwar Kaunas, her experience of exile in the Far North, and her mother's funeral in postwar Kaunas. The story will be presented in an olfactory art group creation, interpreting Grinkevičiūtė's life journey through scents.

STORYTELLING PROGRAMME

Where Can I Find You?

Our CityTelling Festival couldn't exist without us telling the stories ourselves!!

This programme includes storytelling evenings in different courtyards, storytellers from different cultures and countries appearing in the city streets, story tours through Kaunas, an evening celebrating the stories and legends of different nations, and cosy storytelling evenings in Kaunas cafés – activities for everyone in Kaunas to discover, listen to, and get to know one another.

The programme's curators, Daiva Ivanauskaitė and Milda Varnauskaitė, are professional storytellers who've been actively promoting the art of storytelling in Lithuania for several years. They will be joined by storytellers from abroad, including: Shona Cowie (Great Britain), who will create storytelling performances assembled from stories collected in Kaunas; Katrice Horsley (Great Britain), who'll invite us to think about the future of Kaunas; and Gauri Raje (Great Britain and India), who will introduce listeners to India's rich culture of storytelling.

This series of events seeks to help the people of Kaunas, who so often fly past one another on the street and never seem to find each other, to meet and listen to the stories of other people. We'll invite you to ask each other: Where can I find you?, and then come together in the city's courtyards, streets, and cafés.

INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM

The Idea of Europe

This symposium seeks to convene a council of wise men and women from around Europe.

24–25 Nov 2022

Sounds ambitious?

Vytautas Magnus University

It's actually an old tradition in Europe, as a civilization of reflection, reaching back to ancient Greece.

www.vdu.lt/en

Who else, if not those engaged in the cultural world, can answer such fundamental questions as: What is Europe? Can one become a European? Is this a cultural concept? Can Europe be conceived of as a project? Who speaks, and has the right to speak, for Europe?

These and other questions relevant to the challenges faced by Europe today will be explored by an international symposium curated by Viktoras Bachmetjevas. This two-day event will convene intellectuals, academics, artists, and politicians from around Europe and the world.

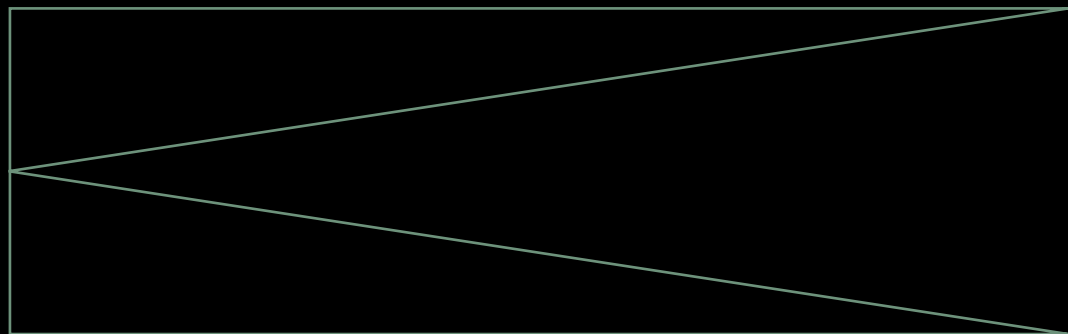

Lithuania, and especially Kaunas, is the perfect place to discuss Europe's passions, hopes, crimes, and victories. Kaunas was always a place with its own opinion, and Europe was and is a civilization of alternatives.

The ancient Greeks imagined Europe as a princess abducted by Zeus, and in one sense the history of Europe is the story of a constant search for Europe. This symposium is one more step in this search.

DESIGNING

What does designing happiness mean?

“Designing Happiness” was the most surprising programme of the Kaunas European Capital of Culture 2022 project. “What does designing happiness mean?” some asked. Others were annoyed: “What do you mean, happiness?” Still others suggested it would be better to go out and fix potholes in the streets...

It took a lot of long, patient work to prepare the Days of Happiness and show some examples of how seemingly insignificant things can profoundly affect how we feel. Such as attention to detail...

Someone’s sense of happiness living in a city doesn’t just depend on how things are at home, at work, or on good health or the money they earn. It also depends on blossoming lilacs, a tasteful sculpture placed in just the right place, a sidewalk adapted for wheelchairs, a comfortable bench to sit on... And on quiet evenings, well-maintained river banks, smiles on the faces of strangers on the street, and a “thank you” to cars stopping at a crosswalk to let everyone walk past...

The goal of the Kaunas 2022 Designing Happiness programme is to create a sense of joy in the city through design, as a relationship that can strengthen the bonds between people and their environment. And we understand happiness to include prosperity, sustainability, functionality, aesthetics, and accessibility. We promote the idea of design for all – a concept that unites the design community throughout the world. It is respect for diversity. It is the aspiration that a city should be convenient and comfortable for all, regardless of their abilities, needs, or age, and that everyone should be able to experience culture in their city freely and without limitations.

The events being organized with our partners in 2022 will present Kaunas as a city of design – as the traditions born here and the innovations being created here today. We’ll invite you to art and design object installations scattered throughout the city’s public spaces and to green interventions cultivated in unexpected urban structures.

For 2022, global design organizations have chosen Kaunas, as a European Capital of Culture, as the site to organize their most important annual events. This will be a unique opportunity to present Kaunas on the international stage and for us to feel that a city is about co-creating.

Creating relationships between a city and its people – while paying attention to the small details.

International Day of Happiness

The Day of Happiness is one of the great success stories of the Kaunas 2022 project.

This day became an enormous educational project that taught the people of our city the benefit of attentiveness to others, attention to nuance, and sensitivity to detail – things that our happiness is very often made of.

This festival will remain in Kaunas even after the conclusion of the European Capital of Culture programme.

First held in Kaunas three years ago, this celebration has expanded beyond the Kaunas 2022 office to encompass all of Kaunas and Lithuania, drawing in thousands of people in various companies, cultural organizations, housing associations, and school and kindergarten communities. The Day of Happiness will explore a new theme every year: We'll look at the happiness around us, we'll think about those for whom happiness is harder to reach, and we'll talk about sustainability, since conscious approach also bring happiness. During the recent quarantine, we derived happiness from our cultural heritage, and in 2022 we'll celebrate the happiness of being part of a community.

On Happiness. Presuppositions 2022. Communities

How do we think about happiness from an academic perspective? We'll ask Vaiva Grainytė and Gediminas and Nomedas Urbonas.

17–20 March 2022

Vytautas Magnus University

www.vdu.lt/en

The economics and philosophy of happiness have become legitimate concepts in academic research.

In the same way, people in the art world are increasingly called upon as equally important researchers in this field. With the help of science and art, this congress will seek to examine and test the presuppositions of happiness. What does the concept of happiness mean in the social, economic, artistic, and philosophical contexts and how is it interrelated with communities – of both people and nature?

Congress events will transpire over three days, each of which will consist of three parts: a morning of academic presentations and discussions, an afternoon of creative workshops, and an evening devoted to art.

The afternoon workshops will apply the creative principle to develop a Glossary of Happiness, a literary work that will eventually be completed by writer Vaiva Grainytė, a recipient of the Lithuanian National Prize for the Arts and Culture. The third part of each day, evenings devoted to art, are meant to include all conference participants, both the passive and the more active among them. "Happiness is not a given – and certainly not something absolute. It is a presupposition, the confirmation of which merits a search for proof," says congress initiator Jūratė Tutlytė.

5X5[®] Design Programme

Attention Kaunas business community!

For the first time, Kaunas will host the unique design innovation programme 5X5[®], created by Designregio Kortrijk vzw of Flanders, Belgium. This will be a special opportunity for Kaunas-based companies doing business in different sectors to collaborate for one year with designers based on a patented 12-step programme in the development of new projects and the refining of already existing endeavours, services, or processes. An exhibition held during the Kaunas Design Festival will present the results of a joint Flemish and Lithuanian 5X5[®] design innovation programme.

This project is an example of a cultural collaboration between Kortrijk and Kaunas, both members of the UNESCO Cities of Design Network.

The people of Kaunas will be invited to view the programme's results at a public exhibition.

Assembly of International Design Networks

Kaunas is assuming its place among the world's most important cities of design.

This assembly is a unique opportunity to present Kaunas as a city of design on the international stage, giving designers a place to meet and establish ties among design communities from different countries.

The forum will be attended by such global design networks as the UNESCO Cities of Design Network, ico-D (International Council of Design), BEDA (Bureau of European Design Associations), and EIDD (Design for All Europe). The assembly programme will feature various meetings, seminars, and conferences.

Several days before the forum opens, international and local design networks with their enduring traditions will hold their most important annual meetings in Kaunas, attended by design policymakers, practitioners from various design fields, and design educators from around the world.

K-Totem, a spatial sculpture

Kaunas is getting gifts for its letter K!

It's not just any letter. It's also a multifunctional, spatial sculpture.

K-TOTEM will become a space for self-expression by local graphic designers and illustrators.

This idea came about during the cultural collaboration between two K's – Kortrijk (Belgium) and Kaunas – both members of the UNESCO Cities of Design network.

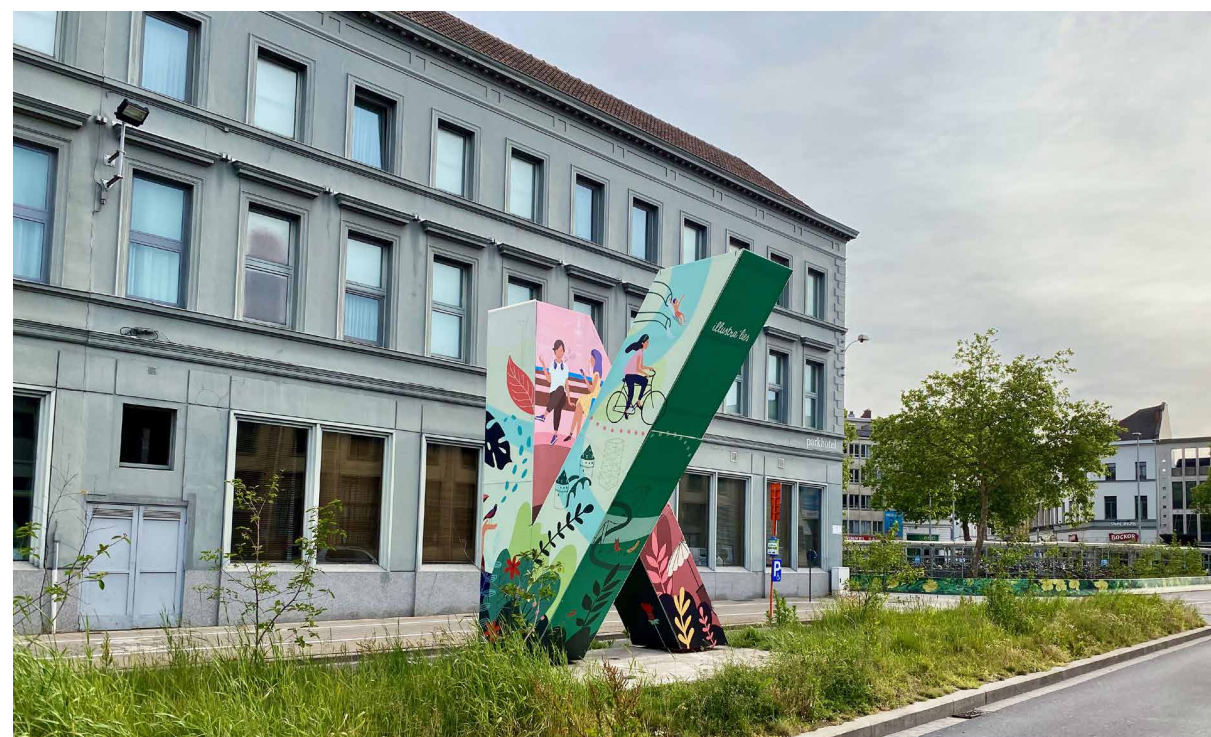

Kortrijk, an aspirant for designation as European Capital of Culture in 2030, has presented a gift to the city of Kaunas – a three-dimensional letter K sculpture which will be decorated with constantly changing visual designs in Kaunas and provide an opportunity to showcase the work of as many local designers as possible.

INTERNATIONAL BONE CHINA SYMPOSIUM

Porcelain City

The legend of Jiesia continues!

For many of its older residents, Kaunas is closely associated with Jiesia porcelain, thus this bone china exhibition and international symposium seeks to highlight the traditions and innovations of Kaunas porcelain art and design. The gathering will feature surviving individual and serial ceramic pieces and original designs assembled from the Jiesia ceramics factory.

Symposium organizers hope to develop a creative experiential porcelain works platform for artists, utilizing contemporary and traditional forms of ceramic expression. An exhibition held during the symposium will invite guests to explore the porcelain production process, meet artists and designers, and appreciate the fragility of porcelain by experiencing a personal connection with these works of art.

We welcome everyone with an appreciation for this elegant bone china.

INTERACTIVE EXHIBITION

Kaunas Asorti: Graphic Design (Hi)Stories and Their Actualisation

Curated by Karolina Jakaitė, this exhibition will present the history of Lithuanian graphic design in the latter half of the 20th century. Posters, sketches, containers, and brand designs not only tell the story of design history processes and the designers and their works, but also speak, in their own unique way, about a particular time, identity, and sustainability, echoing issues relevant to the present day. In 1984, on the occasion of the 20th anniversary of the founding of the Tara Office, an applied graphic art show was held at the Kaunas Exhibition Hall, drawing nearly 100 designers. We will feature a reconstruction of the first Tara Office applied graphic arts exhibition, which revisits the importance of over a half a century of Lithuanian graphic design traditions.

Magenta Landscape Design Festival

Magenta is a unique festival in Lithuania.

This extremely successful project of the Kaunas 2022 programme has been exploring the subject of urban nature for three years.

Audiences will be able to view installations, objects, and other works of art created by international teams of artists, architects, and landscape designers from Lithuania, Poland, Chile, Spain, Germany, Serbia, Mexico, the Netherlands, and other countries.

These are all works especially created for an urban context.

With its expansive green spaces and many bodies of water, Kaunas is perfectly suited for the creation of examples of urban and natural harmony.

The festival's events will span a broad spectrum, including education programmes for city residents; public discussions about business, city government, industry, and society; tours; interdisciplinary projects; events; tactical urbanism; and the creation of public spaces and landscape design sites.

Is it a city within nature, or nature within a city? Let's find the answer together.

EMERGING
KAUNAS

A programme for young people by young people

Emerging Kaunas is a programme for youth.

More importantly, however, it's a programme for young people by young people. The main European Capital of Culture office even allocated a separate TEMPO space for us, where we could feel free and be ourselves, and talk about what concerns us in a language we understand best.

Another important thing is that we can experiment and make mistakes. After all, we're creating something that's never existed in Kaunas before, and we hope that the result of our work will help as many young people as possible to stay in both Kaunas and the Kaunas District, with which we're also working quite a bit.

From the start, we knew that we could achieve a breakthrough in young people's participation in culture only by putting the initiative into the hands of young creatives themselves. This is why the Emerging Kaunas programme includes several platforms to allow us to create superior cultural content ourselves: the Kaunas Challenge, this programme's Alumni Club, and the More Tempo initiative.

This is why we like that strange word "co-creation".

And this is why we're crafting this programme's culminating event, the Audra International Festival 2022, on the basis of co-creation with young people. So, get ready for bold content with contemporary aesthetics that will force you out of your comfort zone! The festival's musical programme is being created by the Freimas association together with a team from the Lizdas night club that everyone knows so well, which means that fans of excellent electronic music can rest assured and expect an invitation to a unique city festival programme.

I am sincerely grateful for the trust demonstrated by the official programme partners and their determination to develop and appreciate co-creation: the Kaunas Chamber Theatre, the Pažaislis Music Festival, and Gamers Dance Studio.

We thank the students of Kaunas and the Kaunas District and our programme partners who are creating and implementing educational projects: the National Kaunas Drama Theatre, the Romuva Cinema Centre in Kaunas, the Science and Innovation for Society organization, Terra Publica, and the Maironis Lithuanian Literature Museum.

And peace and love from our unique Tempo space!

EVENT SERIES

Audra Contemporary City Festival

A storm is coming. The most important festival of our programme.

Over just a few days, you'll see the entire future of Kaunas!

Contemporary art installations and performances by all sorts of artists. Electronic, experimental, and acoustic music at the Kaunas Philharmonic, the Mykolas Žilinskas Art Gallery, the Kaunas Taxi Park, the grounds of the former Pergalė Factory, and Santaka Park, at the confluence of the Neris and Nemunas Rivers. This event will be an important and thunderous cultural revival for the entire region.

The Audra Youth and Contemporary Music Festival is an event that reflects the lifestyle, culture, and values of young people, building an inquisitive community through experiences, content, and bold discussions.

The youth programme's participants are the guides, influencers, and implementors of this festival. And the Kaunas European Capital of Culture 2022 team are their partners.

We're happy to announce that this initiative has been joined by the Freimas International Art Makers Association which, together with the team from the Lizdas night club, are developing the musical portion of this programme. We're going to create the storm that is Audra – together!

This will be a citywide festival that will invite audiences to discover the identity of Kaunas, its youth communities, and each of us individually. The festival programme is interdisciplinary, contemporary, and bold. The active participation in this programme by our audiences is an important piece of this project.

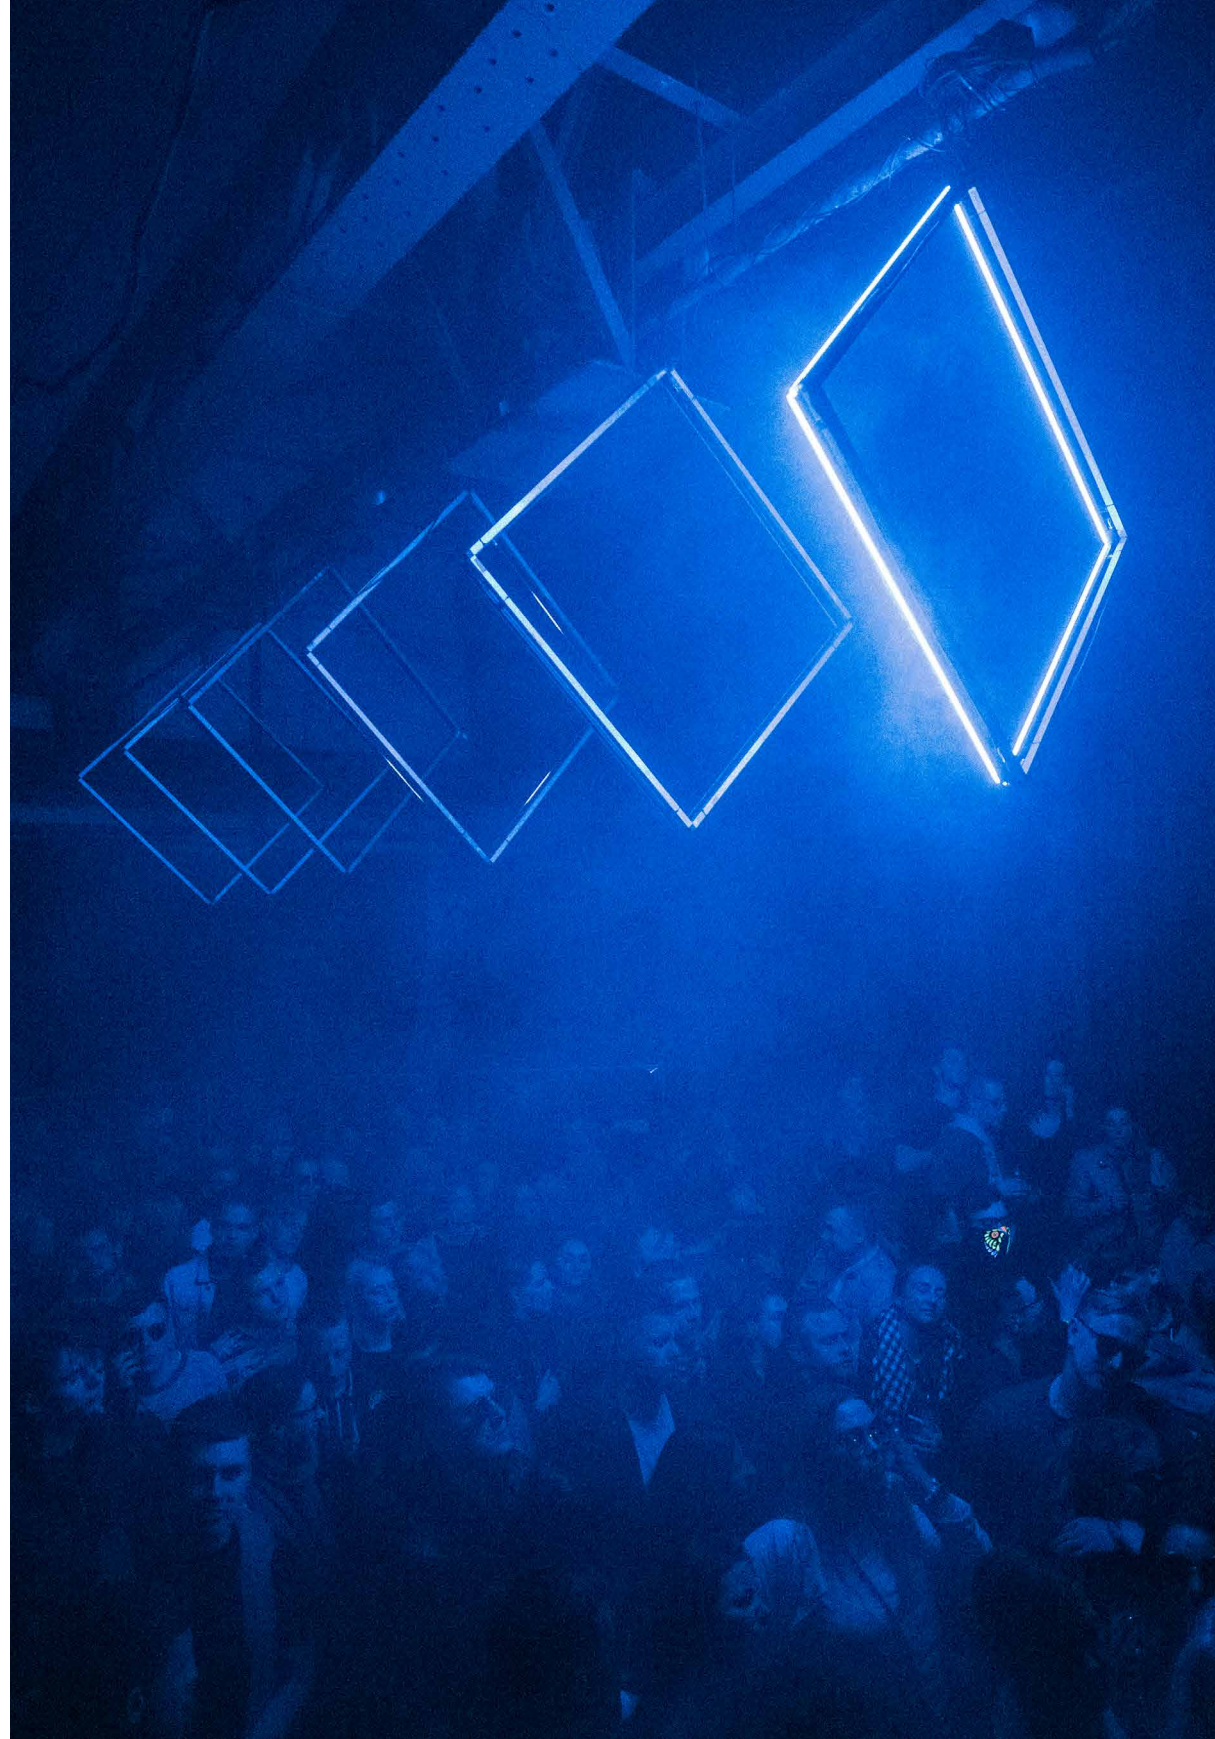

Which means no passive bystanders at this festival!

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMME FOR YOUNG PERFORMING ARTS PRODUCERS

Prodiusai CoLab

You're invited to two educational programme premieres. First, more about the programme itself.

Eight producers selected by a committee are currently learning the fundamentals of their profession from leading Lithuanian and foreign producers, culture managers, and finance experts.

After they complete their theory course, these young women will complete field work at their mentoring organization.

The programme mentors are: producers Darius Vizbaras (Kosmos Theatre), Goda Giedraitytė (Žuvies akis), Rusnė Kregždaitė (Meno ir mokslo laboratorija), Ana Ablamonova (Operomanija), Jurga Knyvienė (Kaunas Chamber Theatre), and Gintarė Masėkaitė (ConTempo, Naujasis Baltijos šokis).

Another one of our programmes is the DANCING ID project, devoted to empowering young people with fewer opportunities. Young participants will collaborate with professional artists during creative activities to find ways to reveal their identities through different means of artistic expression, above all through movement. Liberating bodies and movement is the starting point from which project participants will begin their journey toward their creative identity.

First premiere. Joan's Decision, a theatre play

The original script of the production was based on archival material from the trial of Joan of Arc.

The premiere performance will be staged as a work of Devising Theatre (collaborative theatre).

The mentor for this creative process is Ian Morgen and the creator of the idea, Gintarė Šmigelskytė, also directs and acts in the production, accompanied by her team of Anna Walden, Inga Šepetkaitė, and Dainius Urbonis.

Second premiere. A Dance That Isn't There, a theatre play

This production, based around contact improvisations with audiences, pair dancing, crowd scenes, synchronization, and shifting rhythms will change established opinions about dance.

Featuring choreographer and dancer Mantas Stabačinskas, dancer Vasara Visockaitė, and director Karolina Žernytė.

entirely separate space
for young people

The Kaunas European Capital of Culture 2022 programme created an entirely separate space for young people – far from our main office, official speeches, and supervisors. :)

The goal: more freedom to be among your own. Trust us – there's plenty of room there!

What's happening at the Tempo space?

- Kaunas Challenge, an educational programme for youth
- Kaunas Challenge Alumni Club activities
- And the More Tempo initiatives

What is Kaunas Challenge?

This is a half-year-long skills training programme – but put more simply, it's a safe place to experiment and make mistakes. It's about working with professionals from different fields. What can you learn there? More about the city's cultural sector, but from the inside. And also how to generate and develop your creative projects from ideas to results, learning about team work and communication.

Begins: every year in Oct

What is the Kaunas Challenge Alumni Club?

People who work independently have the chance to consult with Kaunas 2022 mentors, offering young people engaging content as they address cultural accessibility issues encountered by younger people. Programme alumni seek to take over the implementation of the skills training programme and grow the value-added projects emerging from it.

The club welcomes all participants who complete the Kaunas Challenge programme.

What is the More Tempo initiative?

It's a chance to use our spaces to present your creative work.

FLUXUS
WE THE PEOPLE

An experimental spirit, a sense of adventure, and playfulness

We are the Communities Programme. We are one of the broadest Kaunas 2022 programmes, and over five incredibly intensive years of day-to-day activities, we've had an impact on the majority of communities in Kaunas, promoting the idea that residents themselves are capable of addressing challenges and making change.

The official name of our programme is We the People, but amongst ourselves we usually say: Fluxus Labas! Which makes perfect sense, of course, since the creators of the Fluxus movement didn't much care for formalities...

So, we thought it best to just get to work and published the Fluxus Labas! methodology book that helps us learn how to be more community-minded.

The basis for our programme's success rests on shared human and European values: openness of people and communities toward one another, and to diversity, innovation, and creative solutions; inclusion of different people and organizations; building and maintaining interpersonal relationships; and promoting dialogue and co-creation.

Other unique features of the Communities Programme are its experimental spirit, sense of adventure, and playfulness. By embracing these principles, we symbolically follow in the footsteps of George (Jurgis) Maciunas – the founder of the Fluxus movement and a Kaunas native – and his ability to see the world and its challenges differently – more playfully and more simply, from a more human perspective...

So many diverse projects have been created – I can't single out any one of them, because each of them is unique, beautiful, meaningful, and significant in its own way. As you visit our events or the things we've created, remember that you won't always see the actual result of the programme, but just the means to achieve that result. The true result of our effort is out there – in apartment courtyards, neighbourhood streets, and in parks – in a changed perspective, in the courage to act, and in the faith that, with the help of a community, we can achieve so much.

But I do hope that, when you're there, you'll feel the result.

Many thanks to all the communities who joined us on this adventure and experiment that began as a journey into the unknown. We've accomplished so much more than we could have hoped.

And this isn't the end.

FLUXUS LABORATORIES

The Fluxus Laboratories are a special branch of the Fluxus Labas! project.

Since 2018 we've been training people whom we call community facilitators.

These people have now spread out through the city. Their goal is to bring together formal and informal communities, city residents, and organizations in different sectors and encourage them to become involved in community cultural and artistic activities and promote such activities themselves in specific neighbourhoods.

In 2022, the Fluxus Laboratories are going to "explode" and present unique community cultural and artistic projects in many different neighbourhoods throughout Kaunas.

Dainava in Action. Midsummer Spells

Dainava awaits!

18 June 2022

As midsummer approaches and the longest day nears, when the sun sets just one hour before midnight, the Dainava neighbourhood community, in collaboration with professional performers, artistic groups, and volunteers will invite you to a midsummer mystery. Here the routine of contemporary urban life will intertwine with symbols, traditions, and rituals of the past and their promise of renewal. The daytime part of this event is being created by the visiting team of The Open Programme of Jerzy Grotowski and Thomas Richards (Italy), who will work for three weeks with local communities and local professional performers to create a participatory event – a Promenade through Dainava. The Promenade's theme revolves around the ancient Lithuanian song tradition of "sutartinės", or polyphonic singing, and traditional songs and dances (and their contemporary interpretations) from countries on other continents. The Open Programme's performers will also bring a special gift to the city, the premiere staging of the play "The Thirsty Ones".

Courtyard Stories

Courtyard Gallery (Kiemo galerija) is a new legend of old Kaunas. It's an extraordinary example of community-building and co-creation in Kaunas, inviting you to experience colourful creations as well as the retelling of local stories displayed high above your head. In collaboration with the gallery's artists, this idea will encompass even more of central Kaunas and its Old Town courtyards in 2022. The stories and memories of those who live in these courtyards will appear in the most unexpected places – beneath balconies, on walls, and maybe even in the sky.

Under the Carpet

See you in Vilijampolė!

20 Aug 2022

Vilijampolė Microdistrict

A performance by the artists' collective God's Entertainment (Austria) will open the Under the Carpet installation. One of the show's elements will be the weaving of a carpet by the people of Kaunas themselves.

The carpet's threads, cross-stitching, and the complex structure of its material symbolizes social unions. During the weaving of the carpet, artists will explore what is being "swept" under the carpet in Lithuania and in Vilijampolė, specifically. The Under the Carpet performance and art installation will shed light on facts about Kaunas and the European political, cultural, social, and media contexts, as well as facts that society should be concerned about but that are being "swept" under the carpet.

FLUXUS LABAS!

The Courtyard Project

This project has become the pride of Kaunas 2022.

The is one of the most successful pandemic-era projects created in the European Union, copied by many and presented at international awards ceremonies.

Since 2019, Fluxus Labas! has been encouraging residents to engage with their neighbours to change their surroundings, take responsibility for them, and find creative solutions to the challenges they face. Fourteen projects have been implemented prior to 2022 in various areas around the city of Kaunas and the Kaunas District: courtyard shows, artistic courtyard symbols, and unique examples of small architecture – with everything created with the hands and eager participation of local residents.

During Lithuania's first quarantine in 2020, Fluxus Labas! Kiemas adapted to the changing situation and launched the Culture to the Courtyards (Kultūra į kiemus) project, during which different performers gave shows to residents in surrounding apartment buildings, allowing audiences to enjoy culture in their own yards safely, from their windows and balconies. This initiative is being continued in 2022 after noticing its long-term impact: This was a chance for people who are unable to participate in culture, for various reasons, to see it live in their own courtyards. It was a wonderful example of decentralized culture that has inspired residents to organize their own events in their courtyards, gather together, and strengthen their communities.

In 2022, we'll invite one and all to as many as 80 courtyards throughout Kaunas to enjoy the gift of shows by theatre, dance, contemporary circus, music, and other performers.

Culture to the Courtyards will spend 3 days in each of 11 elderships in the city of Kaunas, performing from 6:00 pm to 10:00 pm, followed by weekend Fluxus Laboratories events.

KAUNAS – A CITY OF WATERS

One of the most important goals of the Kaunas European Capital of Culture programme is to encourage citizens to rediscover the city's rivers, restoring Kaunas' title as the central river port in Lithuania.

Initiatives launched by different communities since 2018 have been encouraging residents to explore the city's rivers from their banks, telling stories, organizing open air art sessions, picnics, sports competitions – even creating a game about the rivers.

In 2022, communities will devote even more attention to the rivers and the largest artificial body of water in Lithuania, the Kaunas Lagoon.

For more about these projects devoted to the rivers of Kaunas and the Kaunas District, see p. 174, 177, 179.

INITIATIVE

Celebrate the River

Take part in two cultural walks along the Nemunas and Neris, and then share in the celebration when these two routes meet at Kaunas Santaka Park, the confluence of the two rivers. This event will give residents and guests the opportunity to reengage with the city's rivers and their banks, learn more about different Kaunas communities and discover the city anew, but this time from the water. Celebrate the River (Švėskime upę) is an initiative created by like-minded Kaunas creatives to encourage people to use the rivers, their waters, and riverbanks for cultural events and community gatherings.

The cultural river studies platform TĖKa (Flow) invites you to re-establish diplomatic relations with opposite riverbanks and restore Kaunas' well-deserved title as the City of Rivers.

Courtyard Festival

Because everyone in Kaunas already knows about the Courtyard Festival, you already know what you'll be doing on May 20th!

The Courtyard Festival has become a traditional event to foster community-building and friendship among people living in the city of Kaunas and the surrounding region, and also an opportunity to celebrate International Neighbours' Day. Event participants – communities, organizations, and neighbours – bring their chairs and tables to the city centre and set them with white tablecloths and flowers. The longest of these tables, a line stretching from the Kaunas “Soboras” (St. Michael) Church all the way down to City Hall Square in Old Town, symbolizes the friendship and unity of the city's people and neighbours. The event is also marked by music played in the most unexpected places, as well as different creative installations and performances, some of which are created by you – the people and guests of this city.

Fluxus Festival

The Fluxus Festival is one of the greatest successes of the Kaunas 2022 programme.

This is a true Kaunas carnival! People in Kaunas begin preparing for this celebration well in advance, creating costumes and building props, because the main point of this festival is to climb up Parodos Hill in the most unexpected ways and costumes.

Like every year, Parodos Hill (usually a very busy street) will be closed off for exactly 22 minutes to celebrate this carnival!

The climb up the hill will begin at the square named after the founder of Fluxus, George (Jurgis) Maciunas and, once they make it to the top, participants will join in a special programme.

The Fluxus Festival invites you to an extraordinary full-day programme presenting all sorts of objects, performances, and activities created since 2018 by communities in collaboration with various artists, as well as the opening of new exhibitions. At night, the programme will present a breathtaking show created by local communities together with Walk the Plank (Great Britain) and other impressive performing groups.

Fluxus is about never-ending movement and the drive to rise, climb, and change: from a temporary to a contemporary capital. From the centre to the not-centre. From the routine to the unexpected.

This festival will be a celebration of the city for the city.

Communities Forum

A two-day Communities Forum will take place before the Fluxus Festival to discuss results achieved in Kaunas and the Kaunas District over the past 5 years, talk about newly created and tested models and methods for engaging with communities, and about the changing view of community-based art, its benefits, and financing. The second day of the forum will be devoted to discussing the vitally important subject of including Kaunas' rivers and communities into a process of river revitalization, presenting international river practices associated with sustainable river tourism activities (as part of the Interreg Europe project's STAR Cities initiative). We'll hear the inspiring experiences of other European Capitals of Culture and, most importantly, ask ourselves the question: What's next?

DISTRICT PROGRAMME

The Kaunas District shares the title European Capital of Culture with the city of Kaunas!

It's important to know one thing: the Kaunas District shares the title European Capital of Culture with the city of Kaunas!

Relationships between cities and their surrounding areas are interesting and complicated throughout Europe. And everywhere they're influenced by culture. This is why listening to the needs of our region was the first task of Kaunas 2022. Another objective was adapting the programme tools of a cultural capital to those needs.

The work of the Capital of Culture in the Kaunas District is taking place along several approaches. One of these is a community project called Contemporary Neighbourhoods, involving 15 local municipal jurisdictions within the Kaunas District. A Path of Emerald project is being conducted in 9 elderships.

Human relationships and coming together play an important role in the Kaunas District, like nowhere else. This is why these district projects have created special, I would even say passionate, partnerships. The best example is Italian contemporary circus director Roberto Magro, who is now beloved by communities in the district.

Over the five years of the Capital of Culture programme, the Kaunas District has proven itself to be not only active but also innovative. So, it's not surprising that it is here, in 2022, that the public will be invited to the unveiling of Nemuno7, an environmental design project that is unique in the European context. I won't tell you what it is, though. You'll have to see it for yourselves!

Community-building, empowering local creators, and accessibility to superior cultural services are the values that guide us in the Kaunas District.

I must also say that it was the people of the Kaunas District who constantly drove us to improve the entire Kaunas 2022 project. Through our work with them, we've all grown considerably, and I dare say that it is precisely in the Kaunas District where the changes brought about by the European Capital of Culture are most clearly felt.

Finally, I'd like to invite everyone living in the Kaunas District to celebrate the title of European Capital of Culture in 2022 by participating in events, enjoying our culture, discovering new art sites, and learning about and experiencing diversity.

I also suspect that some of our team members may just want to move to the Kaunas District to live...

CONTEMPORARY NEIGHBOURHOODS

This is the project that launched the European Capital of Culture programme in the Kaunas District. The essence of the project is simple: local jurisdictions called “seniūnijos” (elderships) strengthen communities and address rising challenges through culture. How does this work in practice, you ask? You’ll find all the answers in your invitations to Contemporary Neighbourhoods, so don’t miss the chance to read through them and then take part in eldership events!

The Contemporary Neighbourhoods project began to really pick up speed in 2019, after it was joined by elderships in Linksmakalnis, Garliava, Vilkija, Karmėlava, Akademija, Rokai, and Ringaudai. In 2020, the project expanded to include elderships in Babtai, Domeikava, Kačerginė, Raudondvaris, Samylai, Ežerėlis, Kulautuva, and Lapės. The Kaunas 2022 programme helped these neighbourhoods build ties with artists, cultural leaders, and educators, who then all embarked together on a long and colourful cultural journey.

This project is about seeking change through culture. And that’s the essential purpose of Kaunas 2022.

From June to September 2022, we’ll invite everyone to feel the strong pulse of community and creativity in the Kaunas District and attend the main Contemporary Neighbourhoods events. It will be worth it – we promise!

This production has been created and will be performed by Kulautuva community members, town choirs, and professional performers. It will be accompanied by works of art created by Laura Slavinskaitė, Džiugas Karalius, and Gaila Akelienė during the Contemporary Neighbourhoods project and now displayed in different public spaces in the town. Babtai

This you have to see – Babtai will have its own trolleybus!

July 2022

For some time now, the Babtai community has been looking for a way to connect the neighbourhoods of Babtai, Sitkūnai, Panevėžiukas, and Pagynė and bring their communities together for co-creative activities to develop a shared identity. It was eventually decided to revive an old trolleybus that would feature a laboratory on wheels. Members of the community have come together to equip the trolleybus, which will be accompanied by creative workshops, activities by local artists, and the pursuit of community among these different neighbourhoods.

Next summer, Babtai will be ready to invite you to try out their mobile creative laboratory together!

Vilkija

In July 2022, Vilkija will celebrate Midsummer, and their centrepiece will be a ferry connecting both sides of the Nemunas River. The celebration will include concerts, theatrical performances, and art installations.

23 July 2022

The Vilkynė ferry across the Nemunas will connect the two riverside communities of Vilkija and Šakiai every day, but it will be more than just a means of transportation. Lapės

In 2022, Lapės invite you to the now annual Lapės Sustainability Festival!

Choosing such subjects as nature, the conservation of natural resources, sustainability, and the popularizing of recycling culture wasn't an accident – for many, Lapės has become associated with the landfill located here. It was for this reason that the community decided to devote more attention to environmental issues, unnecessary waste, and growing volumes of rubbish due to increased consumption. In 2020, Algimantas Šlapikas created his work called FOX-BOX, a symbol of foxes escaping from a container, and in 2021 the community created a recreational space out of unused jeans.

Rokai

In 2022, Rokai will unveil a mythical sculpture and invite you to a show.

This small town will host a spectacular light, laser, and music celebration directed by Eglė Valadkevičiūtė. At the heart of the identity of Rokai is the uninterrupted 400-year-old history of its brickyard and the clay found all around the town. In recent years, members of the community have been introduced to various ceramic techniques and have worked together to create the Clay Road. Since 2021, the community also rediscovered its own myths, stories, and legends. It's said that the word Rokai comes from a mythical bird of the same name. Algimantas Šlapikas and the community have been creating a sculpture together to bring new meaning to this legend.

Linksmakalnis

Linksmakalnis and the charismatic Roberto Magro (Italy) have created a show about angels. Nobody knows yet what kind of show this will be. And they can't possibly know, since co-creation means working without a planned script!

Contemporary circus artist and choreographer Roberto Magro immediately noticed the uniqueness of Linksmakalnis. He says he realized that the radio antennas that used to be part of a once secret military compound here in the Soviet days attracted a bunch of invisible angels who've decided to remain in Linksmakalnis forever. This is how angels have become a new symbol for this special place and a source of inspiration for new works of art and the contemporary circus productions created here every year together with the local community.

With the help of artists Enrika Striogaitė and Remis Ščerbauskas, Kačerginė plans to create a collection of stories inspired by the experiences of its residents. Kačerginė is a small town known not only for its harmonious landscape, but also for its deeply rooted cultural traditions. Kačerginė played a role in the lives of Lithuanian writers Jonas Biliūnas, Pranas Mašiotas, and Vincas Mykolaitis-Putinas, which is why literature is an important part of the local identity. In 2022, Kačerginė will invite you to celebrate the results of co-created art, accompanied by the presentation of a collection of stories and a classical music concert inspired by the town's sense of community and arranged by Barbora Valiukevičiūtė.

It's a premiere!

Akademija will present a musical production at the Eleventh (Marva) Fort. The script for this production was created with director and poet Vytautas V. Landsbergis and will be performed by the town's community. Located on the outskirts of Kaunas, Akademija actively participates in the Contemporary Neighbourhoods project. Throughout their participation in the project, over 100 activities were organized here with local residents and professional artists: concerts, tastings, laser shows, and picnics. Samylai

See you at the Girionys Land Art Festival!

The identity of Girionys lies in its beautiful nature and the expanse of the Kaunas Lagoon. The community of Girionys treasures the harmonious bond between its residents and nature. Based on the principles of sustainability and "second use", the community worked with architects Lilija ir Vytautas Putna to create the Sunset Amphitheatre in 2020. In 2021, florist Marijus Gvildys intends to highlight the beauty of Girionys, working together with a team of artists to create more than 5 land art objects. Objects found in nature and ideas shared by residents will all be part of the co-creation process.

PUBLIC ART PROJECT

A Path of Emerald

Begin your search for emeralds in the Kaunas District in 2022. These emeralds are new art objects that will appear in the most unexpected places. Some of them have been under creation from the very start of the programme, others rely on objects in the Kaunas District for their existence, transforming them in a contemporary way.

The Kaunas 2022 team approached the Kaunas District with a clear vision: to contribute to a strengthening of the sense of identity and pride in the local environment in the region.

Each created art object has been adapted to a specific place or space and, beginning in the summer of 2022, will greet curious locals and guests alike.

In the Vilkija area, Čekiškė, Piliuona and Neveronys water towers will be used to implement artistic ideas.

The Batniava eldership will install “Stebėtojas” (The Watcher) project that will encourage visitors to take a closer look at the town and its history.

The Užliedžiai eldership will shine and invite you to view the area through a colourful play of light.

In Alšėnai, our gaze will turn to the theme of the post-war Lithuanian partisans – our forest brothers – and the subject of historical memory, which will resonate with the sounds of Lithuanian folk percussion instruments called “tabalas”.

In 2022, the Kaunas District will likely become one of the most interesting places for tourists seeking contemporary culture.

ART INSTALLATION

Reflecting Memory in Landscapes. Vandžiogala

Your attention please to this unusual public diary of drawings.

Using material gathered around the small town of Vandžiogala, artist Mindaugas Lukošaitis adds his own drawn stories to the area's authentic landscape to create a unique diary. His goal has been to collect the traces of history of this region which he found in natural surroundings. The artist also has the perspective of an outsider – a view that extends the contours of the landscape through the lines of his drawings and highlights unique details, presenting audiences with a very personal code by which they can “read” what the artist has seen.

Nemuno7, the great ship of culture

Nemuno7 is a river engineering and landscape design project that is unique in Europe and which will serve as a public cultural space.

Opening 22 May 2022
Visit up to Nov 2022

The object combines technological history, historic heritage, and contemporary architecture and is expected to become a new attraction in Kaunas for locals and tourists.

The left bank of the Nemunas in Zapyškis

A dredger placed on the left bank of the Nemunas River near the small town of Zapyškis will become a cultural centre for visual art, media and technology, interdisciplinary collaboration, science, and creativity, and promises to become one of the most vibrant accents in the Kaunas European Capital of Culture 2022 programme.

This object is being created on a Czechoslovak construction dredger first put in use in 1965 which, given its outdated technology that harmed the river ecosystem around it, could no longer be used for its main function. Instead of dismantling the object, a more sustainable solution was devised: to create a new, more relevant role and transform it into a cultural space, inviting the public to explore the subject of water from the perspective of art, history, and science.

Throughout the life of the project, we'll invite you to experience ever new aspects of this object.

The dredger will serve as an event space, a laboratory for creative industries, a shop for locally designed products, and other functions.

The site promises to be fascinating both from the outside, when viewed from the riverbank, and from the inside, whether onboard or floating down the Nemunas.

The Nemuno7 dredger will also have space for artistic residencies.

Visitors will be able to view the results of each artistic residency right on the boat.

Meanwhile, a surprise encounter with nature will await on deck. Continuing on the subject of sustainability, the site will be home to pioneer plants that grow in open habitats and easily adapt to extreme cultivation conditions.

This will be a place you'll want to return to again and again. During the warm months of the year, we'll invite you to experience new exhibitions, performances, and events on current themes.

Roberto Magro's Contemporary Circus Show

This show will bring together different towns in the Kaunas District.

The work of Italian contemporary circus director Roberto Magro has quickly become an integral part of the activities undertaken by the European Capital of Culture 2022 programme in Kaunas and the Kaunas District.

As we celebrate the title of European Capital of Culture, Roberto Magro and his company are returning to the Kaunas District and, in the summer of 2022, will invite audiences to enjoy and participate in a community-based contemporary circus show.

Roberto Magro's work displays bold and surprising creative approaches and a deep respect for local communities and their environment.

In 2019, Margo worked with the Linksmakalnis community and contemporary circus artists to create a show called Radio Angels, inspired by the town's identity and history. One year later, the show was expanded to include new forms.

In 2021, Roberto Magro presented the show Visions, based on the poetry of Vytautas Mačernis. The production was set into the lush forests of Alšėnai, Neveronys, and Batniava, and participating audiences felt as if they'd become characters in an evening of fairy tales.

We thank everyone who has contributed to the staging of Roberto Magro's shows in the Kaunas District and we look forward to seeing you soon!

FESTIVAL

Footsteps at the Bottom of the Lagoon

Everyone who comes to the Footsteps at the Bottom of the Lagoon festival in 2022 will get the chance to feel as if they've become part of the now flooded villages that once existed here.

This event will have a bit of everything: songs, stories, and folklore from flooded villages, contemporary music, and innovative technological solutions. The goal of this event is to recall, preserve, and commemorate the traditions and ways of life of villages flooded during the creation of the Kaunas Lagoon. The fate of these villages is an authentic part of our history, searching for kindred spirits within the European and global ethnocultural space. A theatrical production will include members of the community of these flooded villages, performing groups from the Samylai Cultural Centre, professional artists, and musical groups. This event will be directed by Eglė Targanskienė.

The Footsteps at the Bottom on the Lagoon festival has become a tradition and is one of the most popular of all events in the Kaunas District.

CULTURAL PARTNERSHIPS

Kaunas as the European Capital of Culture would be impossible without a successful partnership programme

We have brought together around 80 partners and organizations, from national institutions to strong representatives from the non-governmental sector.

Thanks to these partnerships, we can present truly impressive events to the city and the world. Just decide for yourself:

Solo exhibitions by Marina Abramović and Yoko Ono, the ConTempo international festival of performing arts, the 13th Kaunas Biennial, Kaunas Literature Week and the Children's Book Festival, the Arterija Arts Installation, and over 10 unique theatre premieres created together with foreign partners.

We'll invite guests to extraordinary performing art events: director Robert Wilson's staging of Dorian, the documentary show Taxi, the Kaunas Jazz Stops jazz music spaces, concerts by Milda Gražinytė-Tyla and the Kaunas State Choir at the Pažaislis Festival, an international puppetry festival, events at the Aura Dance Festival, the Kaunas Sings concerts of choral music, special programmes by the Kaunas Symphony Orchestra, and many, many others.

New ties between renowned organizations is the surest driver of change, which is why we invited cultural organizations, institutions, artists, and creators to contribute to the emergence of Kaunas 2022 in many different ways. By inviting our partners to join in our programme from the very start, we now have more than 100 projects that will accompany the Kaunas 2022 programme.

We encourage cultural organizations to set bold, ambitious goals and strive for excellence. We support creators by engaging in unexpected partnerships and by initiating new experimental models of cooperation not only between different sectors, but also with partners in other European countries.

Kaunas 2022 is an enormous educational project, one in which we are all learning new forms of cultural activities together.

I am sure that the partnerships established through our project will shape the cultural map of Kaunas in the coming decades.

Memory of Being An Exhibition by Marina Abramović

Yes – she's coming to Kaunas!

Kaunas - European Capital of Culture 2022 presents a unique opportunity to see Memory of Being, a solo exhibition by Marina Abramović, one of the world's most renowned artists.

This will be one of our programme's most significant events.

The exhibition is based on Abramović's series The Cleaner, which began at the Moderna Museet in Stockholm in 2017 and reached the conceptual end of its journey in 2020 in her native city of Belgrade, where she presented her work for the first time after a break of nearly 50 years.

The exhibition provides a detailed presentation of the most important stages of Marina's work since the 1960s. It will feature video documentations of her interviews and most famous works, as well as the artist's best known video installations.

This impressive project was made possible through the partnership of Meno Parkas Gallery with the Centre for Contemporary Art Znaki Czasu in Toruń, which successfully hosted The Cleaner in 2019 and agreed to assist in establishing contact with the Marina Abramović Institute in New York and serve as co-curators (Wacław Kuczma and Dorota Kuczma) for this event.

The exhibition is being organized in collaboration with the Marina Abramović Institute, in consultation with the Museum of Contemporary Art in Belgrade and the Moderna Museet in Stockholm.

The exhibition will be accompanied by a Lithuanian edition of the catalogue The Cleaner – the most comprehensive review of the works of Marina Abramović to date. A lecture by the artist is also planned.

AN INSTALLATION AND A RETROSPECTIVE EXHIBITION BY Yoko Ono

Yoko Ono will be visiting Kaunas, the native city of her friend George (Jurgis) Maciunas.

Whether loved or hated, Yoko Ono is known by all as a nonconformist artist.

A music producer, prominent figure on the New York arts scene, and the wife of John Lennon, one of the founders of the legendary rock band The Beatles, Yoko Ono once collaborated with George Maciunas in the early days of the Fluxus movement.

During the opening weekend of “Kaunas – European Capital of Culture 2022”, Yoko Ono’s installation “Ex It” will be opened to the public in the Bank of Lithuania, a modernist building in the centre of Kaunas.

At the beginning of autumn, a major retrospective exhibition of Yoko Ono’s work, “The Learning Garden of Freedom”, will open at the Kaunas Picture Gallery near George Maciunas’ childhood home. The exhibition will include a wide range of works spanning the various periods and practices of this iconic artist: from conceptual art and experimental cinema to installations, performances, objects, and text-based works.

The exhibition is organized by the Contemporary Art Centre in collaboration with the Fundação de Serralves – Museu de Arte Contemporânea (Porto), and Studio One, founded by the artist in New York, and the M. K. Čiurlionis National Museum of Art.

The curator of this exhibition is Yoko Ono’s long-time friend and Fluxus connoisseur, John Hendricks.

13TH KAUNAS BIENNIAL

Once Upon Another Time... gyveno jie jau kitaip

The 13th Kaunas Biennial will ask the question: How can we connect different places of the world with people's stories?

Audiences will hear these stories in films, sculpture, installations, performances, and through the spoken word, in text, poetry, and other forms.

The Kaunas Biennial exhibition will reflect on different examples of humanity's resilience and adaptation. The exhibition will present works by 23 international artists and groups, exploring myths and fairy tales and personal and community stories of survival and transformation experienced in reality. Encountering contemporary art in unusual places, visitors to the biennial will be invited on a tour of the city of Kaunas and the history of human survival, presented in new ways.

"Stories from the past, present and even the future give us perspectives from different worldviews and cultures, and captivating narratives featured in the work of these artists help us empathize and establish personal connections. The 13th Kaunas Biennial hopes to turn stories of human resilience into a source of inspiration and an example from which we can learn how to cope with the difficulties and challenges that await us," says the curator of this year's Biennial, Josée Drouin-Brisebois (Canada).

ARTS SPACE

Arterija

This project is designed to represent the power of art schools, young creative people, their international collaborative efforts, and the exchange of ideas. “Arterija”, the Lithuanian word for “artery”, appeals to the process of vitally important movement, so, in Arterija, it’s not just the result that is important, but also action, renewal, the act of being cyclical.

During international creative workshops in 2021, artists, creators, and creative groups were selected to develop works for Arterija. The aim of the workshops was to foster international communication, education, and co-creation among art students and artists, analysing the identity of Kaunas in the European cultural context and creating ideas for the Arterija arts space. After the creative workshops and competition were over, a section of Kuzmos Street between Muitinės Street and Karaliaus Mindaugo Prospektas was reimagined as the Arterija arts space concept, consisting of four cycles, based on the ideas developed in the programme. A new cycle is planned for each season of the year – winter, spring, summer, and autumn. Exhibits will be created by the artists, creators, and creative groups who presented the best ideas for the project.

PERFORMATIVE INSTALLATION

Pitchblack Assembly

This is a diverse performative installation that will take you into space – outer and inner.

It is 2803: Space miners have discovered a device that stores “Memories of Voices”... the last word was uttered in space 102 years ago. Will this discovery revive a sense of community?

The Pitchblack Assembly is a place where everyone can become a creator and influence other co-creators of the installation. Is it possible to sing together and rediscover archaic ways of interacting with one another using modern technology? This work is part of the international partnership between Kaunas 2022 and Esch 2022 – one that will unite not only creative groups, communities, and organizations, but also the people of these two cities.

INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL OF PERFORMING ARTS

ConTempo

The 2022 ConTempo programme promises the most stunning projects in the festival's history.

Here are just a few of the shows you can expect to see:

Exceptional performance venues will be presented by one of the most famous French circus artist Boris Gibé. He will present 3 artistic productions: a philosophical piece "L'absolu" that is performed inside a unique theatre arena in the shape of 12 meters high metal cylinder. In addition, the ConTempo audience will also get to see a premiere of "Anatomie du Désir" – a new creation by Boris Gibé, which will take place in a specially made building, inspired with panopticon shape. The last artwork to be presented is called "Installation Tripod" and it takes place in water.

The sound artists Strijbos and Van Rijswijk of the Netherlands, who have become famous through their exploration of the connections between space and sound, will present their landscape opera Signal, created especially for the environs of the Kaunas District.

The contemporary performing arts company Rhizome from France will astound audiences with the impressive metal construction used by the performers of the show La Spire as they entwine themselves with the structure and hang in mid-air.

The performing company Kamchätka (Spain), already well known and loved by Kaunas residents, will return to the festival in 2022, this time with a work of itinerant street theatre called Fugit, which will allow audiences to immerse themselves in the lives of refugees searching for a better world.

ConTempo, an international festival of performing arts launched by Kaunas 2022, has been organized in Kaunas and the Kaunas District since 2019.

DOCUMENTARY THEATRE PLAY

The Assembly Kaunas

The Assembly Kaunas is a performance work that invites audiences to discuss the most divisive subjects in society today – and to defend their own points of view and listen to those of others.

This is a joint project between the National Kaunas Drama Theatre and the Porte Parole Documentary Theatre Company of Montreal, Canada.

The main idea of the performance is to make effective use of the means of theatrical expression and to create a field of political discussion. Live theatrical action serves as an alternative to discussions on social media and the “echo chamber” effect, as here the audience is compelled to hear opposite opinions and is given an opportunity to express their own.

The performance is based on an original model of political theatre created by the creative team of Porte Parole (Annabel Soutar, Brett Watson, Alex Ivanovici), different versions of which have been implemented in Montreal, Munich, and the University of Maryland in the United States.

INTERNATIONAL PUPPETRY FESTIVAL

Kaunas Puppet 22

The festival will bring together the brightest puppeteers in Europe and will inform the whole city that the European Capital of Culture 2022 has arrived in Kaunas!

This festival will bring together Europe's most prominent puppeteers and send the message to the entire city that, in 2022, the European Capital of Culture is right here – in Kaunas!

“The time has come to ‘wake up’ and unleash your creativity, encourage your children, inspire your neighbours, and go out into the spring-time streets of Kaunas to celebrate the festival of culture!” says festival director Rasa Bartninkaitė.

Most of the programme will be devoted to families raising children between the ages of 3 and 10, but young and adult audiences alike will also be invited to make unexpected discoveries.

The festival programme will include: performances by 12 groups from different European countries presented in theatres and public urban spaces, creative workshops with renowned masters of puppetry and object theatre from around Europe, meetings and discussions with festival participants, discussions of performances, and exhibitions.

And, of course, an impressive theatrical procession of festival participants, partners, and volunteers down Laisvės Alėja – an event which has become a centrepiece of the festival, marking its official opening.

DOCUMENTARY THEATRE PERFORMANCE

Taxi

One of the strangest premieres ever seen in Kaunas will take place... in taxis.

During this documentary theatre performance, taxis will serve as a platform to complement the story: their sound systems, screens, and interior features will be used as microdetails to help drivers tell their stories in a unique way. During the performance, a fixed number of taxis will drive around Kaunas and will come together to form a network of stories that will showcase the streets of Kaunas through a car window.

The inside of a car is a particularly intimate space – and a great place to share stories. Could this also be a great space for theatre? Don't miss this unique premiere.

Dorian, a theatre play by Robert Wilson

This production of the play Dorian is a landmark event in the history of the Kaunas National Drama Theatre and Kaunas culture overall.

Dorian is the work of director Robert Wilson and his team at the Kaunas National Drama Theatre, created in collaboration with D'haus (Düsseldorf, Germany).

Robert Wilson is one of the most famous contemporary theatre directors, called an architect of time and space, and is among the most renowned scenographers and creators of avant-garde theatre in the world, one who has changed the idea of modern theatre art and the audience's perception of what transpires on stage. Robert Wilson is a master of form, basing his performances on a landscape perfected by lighting, video projections, and motion architecture. His work on the stage unconventionally integrates a wide range of artistic forms of expression, including dance, lighting, sculpture, music, and text, and his work has garnered worldwide acclaim from audiences and critics as well as numerous awards.

Dorian, a solo performance (written by Darryl Pinckney) based on Oscar Wilde's novel The Picture of Dorian Gray, tells the story of a prince in search of pleasures, whom the director perceives as a man incapable of finding himself within his own time.

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS

Kaunas – a Fortress of Europe 2022

The European Federation of Fortified Sites congress convenes every year in a different European city. We are happy to welcome the congress to Kaunas in 2022!

This is a significant event every year – a meeting of the international community of fortified sites and a unique opportunity to bring together fortification experts, heritage conservationists, and heritage developers, as well as researchers, historians, and practitioners.

The revival of the Kaunas Fortress complex began with an initiative of community volunteers and locality creation.

Forts have become meeting places for artistic freedom and community gatherings.

Thanks to efforts by local communities and hundreds of clever initiatives over several decades, a social partnership between the Kaunas District, Kaunas City Municipality's Kauno tvirtovė (Kaunas Fortress) volunteer organization, and local creators and artists has transformed neglected forts into welcoming areas that will continue to strengthen the city's creative power, develop creative industries and green innovations well after 2022.

2022 promises to be a wonderful year to visit the forts of Kaunas!

INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION PROJECTS AND THE 2022 CAPITALS OF CULTURE PROGRAMME

Kaunas and the Kaunas District will become one enormous European stage in 2022. We're extremely proud to have worked with so many friends from around the continent to develop a programme that will prove that we in Kaunas are the truest representatives of European culture! The year we've been given will be a wonderful opportunity to return here, or visit us for the first time, to experience the unique story of Kaunas.

It's wonderful to return to the European cultural map and not only welcome our guests, but also to present Kaunas and its people in so many different locations around the city and region. We strive to be charming, professional, and appealing. This is a sincere privilege and a duty to the future.

We hope the amazing international "Contemporary Capital" programme will give you the gift of fascinating encounters, wonderful emotions, and will open new perspectives, and galvanize and inspire you as much as we ourselves have been inspired through its creation. Look for the many contributions already made by our guests in all parts of our programme and on the summer stage that will flourish throughout the warm months of 2022. And remember to tell others about the programme!

Very special events created in very special company!

Europe will have as many as three Capitals of Culture in 2022!

Esch-sur-Alzette (Luxembourg), Novi Sad (Serbia), and Kaunas (Lithuania)

But do you know the best thing? There's no competition like there is in sports. It's a wonderful company of people striving to achieve more in culture!

The Capital of Culture title has turned into a unique programme of events uniting artists from three countries.

It's diverse and colourful – just like our colleagues in the Capitals of Culture.

Thank you, dear friends!

Kaunas 2022 and Wrocław 2016

Two capitals – a future one, Kaunas 2022, and a former one, Wrocław 2016 (Poland) – organized creative workshops. Artists from Wrocław and Kaunas took a creative look at the history of their countries and the cultural and modern ties between them and developed artistic interdisciplinary interpretations of Kaunas' modernist heritage. This is how the documentary theatre production Pusė (Half) was born. For more, see p. 116). Our friends have promised that this will not be all: In 2022, we'll welcome musicians and other talented artists from Wrocław (for more see p. 240–241).

Kaunas 2022 and Tartu 2024: Wild bits, an exhibition

In the spring of 2022, artists from Lithuania and Estonia will meet at the Maajaam artists' residence in southern Estonia. Surrounded by nature, they'll explore the impact of technology on how we behave, think, and understand our world. Then, they'll create works of art that are meant for display in open spaces and that speak about contemporary humanity. The project is being overseen by the renowned Estonian artist Timo Toots.

TEMPO
OF CULTURE

The Kaunas European Capital of Culture is a huge educational project

And we mean that literally.

The Tempo Academy of Culture is an informal training programme held during the preparation for Kaunas 2022, bringing together participating organizations and people interested in developing new skills and innovative cultural projects.

Since 2017, the Academy has had 4 different faculties.

A faculty for professionals has been offering one training cycle every year for cultural organizations about how they can expand and strengthen their connection to existing and new audiences.

The youth faculty offers a unique programme called Kaunas Challenge, for school-age students in upper grades. The programme not only helps develop personal team skills but also, with the help of Kaunas 2022 mentors, has created and implemented youth cultural projects.

In classes offered by the community faculty, residents of Kaunas and the Kaunas District have had the opportunity to learn about community-building and neighbourhood activism practices through artistic and cultural activities.

The fourth faculty, volunteering and hospitality, offers introductory leadership training, hospitality classes to help welcome guests to Kaunas, and other essential training for Kaunas 2022 volunteers, whom we call "kultūristai", or Culturists.

The Tempo Academy of Culture has been attended by tens of cultural institutions, thousands of young people, volunteers, and local residents. This training has been their first step to promoting new activities or changes within their organizations. Through their initiatives, Academy participants have contributed directly to the success of the Kaunas 2022 project and have become the true guarantors of long-term change in our communities and the world of culture.

European Capital of Culture Forum

This is a unique platform for leaders, academics, cultural professionals, and society at large.

Every year, city mayors, government ministers, university professors, diplomats, institutional leaders, members of the club of Capitals of Culture, community activists, and innovators have taken part in this forum as participants and speakers.

The forum is an influential international event recognized as an important shaper of opinion and policy in capitals of culture, raising important questions pertaining to European culture, policy, and public life.

With such themes as “European Capital of Culture”, “The Human Factor”, and “Culture Under Corona”, the forum has always aspired to be at the forefront of cultural events. It is our team’s fervent hope that the city of Kaunas will preserve this forum as a symbol of Kaunas’ leadership, long after the Capital of Culture programme has come to a close.

THE MYTHICAL BEAST OF KAUNAS

Creating a contemporary myth of the city

The Mythical Beast of Kaunas is a unique project, never before attempted by a European Capital of Culture. It seeks to create a contemporary urban myth.

This curatorial programme has two goals. First, we want to demonstrate the enormous power of storytelling. Since ancient times, storytelling has been known as a force capable of shaping communities, cities, and countries. In every age, myths and legends have always been used to encourage togetherness, patriotism, and civic-mindedness. Ancient myths later shaped the founding values of the European Union.

The Mythical Beast of Kaunas programme presents an innovation. Myths and legends can still be created now, crafting them for ourselves as cultural tools. These are value tools that promote empathy, a sense of community, respect for one another, and tolerance. And any engaged citizen can participate in the creation of myths and legends.

The stories of the Mythical Beast have become a very successful template that each of us can and has used to understand our city in a contemporary way.

Another goal of the Mythical Beast of Kaunas programme which we have been quite successful in reaching is transforming the Beast into the talisman and fun face of Kaunas 2022. Children in Kaunas have already been drawing, moulding, and constructing the Beast, and families continue to walk over to Kaunas Castle to listen to the Beast snoring somewhere below, or to see the Beast's dungeon beneath the First Fort.

The Kaunas Puppet Theatre has created a show about the Beast's stories, and anyone can read about the Beast's adventures in a specially created storybook. The Beast even has a dedicated website www.kauno-legenda.lt with an archive of stories, myths and legends. There is the Beast board game and the Beast perfume... And there's still so much more!

All this was made possible with the help of our wonderful partners and an enormous group of volunteers.

And, in conclusion, I guarantee: the Beast of Kaunas is here to stay forever. He'll be long remembered, tourists will collect his image, and future generations of Kaunasians will hear bedtime stories about the Beast and his adventures in our city.

It will happen.

Tales of the Beast of Kaunas

This book is the Kaunas European Capital of Culture told in tales!

Although it's been created for children, every adult will also find it useful. The book includes the beautiful and mysterious city of Kaunas and the Kaunas District, the people of Kaunas, Kaunas legends, as well as the present and future of Kaunas. It enriches our city, telling a story about the huge Underworld Kaunas beneath our feet and the Sunny Kaunas we care for today. It talks about the Mythical Beast that protects our city, about the Princess of Kaunas, and about the people who once lived in Kaunas and those who live here today. It teaches us to be friendly and civic-minded, how to empathize with and understand our neighbours, and love our city together. Tales of the Beast of Kaunas is about about very simple and everyday things, because those are the goals of the Capital of Culture. Culture is the ability to create small miracles in our daily lives.

This book was written by Rytis Zemkauskas and drawn by Darius Petreikis. Darius is also the author of the official "form" of the Beast of Kaunas, after winning an international competition.

This book has been reviewed by educators and is perfect for school and kindergarten programmes. It was presented at the Vilnius Book Fair, where even the President of Lithuania had the chance to read it. The book has been touring our country's embassies abroad, helping them promote Lithuania, because the Tales of the Beast of Kaunas is not just a book about Kaunas – it suits any city and can be an example of how to use cultural methods to improve the lives of a city's inhabitants. Which is why a wonderfully translated English version of the book is also now reaching other countries in the European Union.

Simply put, this book NEEDS TO BE READ. Those who do, immediately fall in love with it!

This book can be purchased online, as well as at the Kaunas European Capital of Culture office and the Kaunas Tourism Information Centre.

Be sure to get your copy and read it!

BOARD GAME

The Beast of Kaunas

The Beast of Kaunas board game emerged from the Tales of the Beast of Kaunas book.

The game is based on the characters and stories created in the book, but the game can just as well be played without reading the book. :)

Especially the tale “How the Beast Recognizes a Kaunasian”, where we learn that a real Kaunasian is someone who has secrets. And we can divide the people of Kaunas into several groups: the Secret Keepers, Secret Seekers, Secret Creators, Secret Carriers, and, finally, the Secret Kaunasians. So, once you begin playing, you can choose which group you want to join according to your own likes and character.

This game is the creation of Urtis Šulinskas, a master of board games known throughout Europe. In Germany, his works were awarded the “Game of the Year” prize. While creating the game, Urtis saw Kaunas as a city of many hills and stairs. Every game lover knows that stairs, ladders, and funiculars are great for board games, since they allow players to climb up and sometimes – fall down. The game’s design was created by Darius Petreikis, who’s also responsible for the image of the Beast traveling around the world and into all of our homes.

The Beast of Kaunas game can be played by up to five people and it is suited for all players ages 7 and up. It’s said that it is possible to play the game in about fifteen minutes, but that’s hard to believe, since players usually take longer. Why? Because they read the stories from the book on the playing cards and start to talk about all those secrets and cities...

Oh, and one time around the game board will not be enough. It will enchant you!

This site includes stories about the Beast and other mythical and real inhabitants of Kaunas, all created by real Kaunasians. People have sent and keep on sending stories, tales, and legends to the site, so it’s constantly being updated!

You’ll also find a collection of old legends about Kaunas, Vilnius, Klaipėda, Šiauliai, and other Lithuanian cities, not to mention a list and map of other mythical beasts in Europe!

THEATRE PLAY

The Beast of Kaunas

Author and director Andrius Žiurauskas has written and mounted a play especially for the European Capital of Culture. This show is participatory, which means you won't just watch it, you'll become part of the action! The play's characters, Rotušė (City Hall) and Fontanas (Fountain) invite you to learn about the Mythical Beast of Kaunas, who's been napping away in the underworld of the city for hundreds of years. But this Beast likes to play hide-and-seek, so catching a glimpse of him won't be easy. You'll have to smell and hear him and track him down before you can see and touch and, if you're lucky, catch him.

THEATRE PLAY FOR YOUNG AUDIENCES

i'm a beast

This play has been created by two volcanoes of energy: director and set designer Rokas Lažaunykas and writer Sandra Bernotaitė. And not just by them. The play has been created on the basis of "group directing", with an entire team taking part in its creation. It tells the story about the inner Beasts within all of us. How do we identify them? How do we tame them? And how to do we make sure that their energy doesn't destroy us, but instead inspires us to create? The idea of the Mythical Beast of Kaunas will be revealed in this play so that every young person will be able to identify with that idea, so don't miss your chance to see it and follow us for scheduling information.

MAGICAL GAME FOR ADULTS

Meeting the Mythical Beast

Director Greta Gudelytė presents a special creation that has much in common with the idea of the Mythical Beast. Meeting the Mythical Beast, a magical game for adults, was created by combining different, complimentary practices used in psychotherapy and theatre. It's a visual, theatrical, and psychological experiment in which every participant can be drawn into the reality created during the game to better understand the physical and psychological processes taking place within each of them. The Beast of Kaunas is therapeutic. The Beast of Kaunas is our own journey into ourselves. Don't miss your chance to take part in one of only 12 performances!

MUSICAL PERFORMANCE

Ho Monate / New Day

This is a musical performance on motifs of myths and tales, created jointly by Kgomotso Le Roux from South Africa and Jurga Šeduikytė from Lithuania, and is part of the European Capitals of Culture and African Capitals of Culture (ECoC/ACoC) cooperation programme. The programme's purpose is to create opportunities for female artists from different continents to meet and exchange cultural experiences through co-creation. The pandemic forced the project to be implemented remotely, but this creation by Kgomotso and Jurga will reach audiences for sure, despite the obstacles and distance.

PHOTO INSTALLATION

Underworld Kaunas

Art photographer Chiraq Jindal (India and New Zealand) has created a unique method that makes it possible to see open and closed spaces simultaneously. His method is best illustrated in the concept of Sunny and Underworld Kaunas presented in the book Tales of the Beast of Kaunas. Underworld Kaunas means that beneath us there lies another, mysterious city, a mirror image that arouses our curiosity and imagination. With the help of negative, scanning, and lightbox technology, Jindal will give us the chance to "see" Underworld Kaunas and experience an unforgettable adventure.

STREET DANCE SHOW

Beast of the City

In this show, director Vykintas Šukys talks about humanity's return to nature. City dwellers often choose artificial comforts and devote less time to walks and spending time outside. So, dancers transformed into beasts will invite everyone to the confluence of the Nemunas and Neris Rivers to get away from the city and, with their own bodies, to feel a change and a return to where we once came from.

The confluence of the Nemunas and Neris Rivers will host a shamanic event, reminding us of ancestral rituals. It's quite possible that here, thousands of years ago, this was how people prepared for the hunt and called on the elements for their favour.

TRACKING THE BEAST

The Beast's Bedroom beneath Kaunas Castle

Since the summer of 2020, anyone who wants to can find out where the Beast of Kaunas sleeps. And hear him snoring! All they need to do is come to the western tower of Kaunas Castle and search for signs there bearing the symbols of Kaunas 2022 and the words: "Here sleeps the Beast of Kaunas. Come to the opening and listen to him snoring. If you can't hear him, he's gone off somewhere – come back later. Just don't make too much noise..."

The Beast's Lair at the Kaunas Fortress

Since May 2021, viewers have been able to visit the First Fort of the Kaunas fortress complex and see an installation called The Beast's Lair, by light artist Linas Kutavičius of Klaipėda. A series of red shields that light up at night lead visitors into the underground beneath the fort – into the realm of the Beast. The installation is not just unique for its use of a special technology to make the shields. The red light of the installation was also chosen because it doesn't disturb the bats living inside the fort. They are the Beast's friends and everyone in the city has to take care of them. You can visit the installation any time of the day. Once you get close to the fort, you'll see the red signs!

The Scent of the Beast of Kaunas

Kaunas has never had its own perfume. But everyone who's ever lived in a city can recognize the scents of a city – scents that can be so different: from bakery-fresh buns to the smells coming from kitchens in apartment buildings. From dandelions by a sidewalk to freshly cut grass in someone's yard. From sewage drains to gasoline and fuel oil. From smoke coming from chimneys in the winter to grills fired in courtyards in the summer. This entire range of city smells has been reflected in a unique project – the Scent of the Beast of Kaunas.

You can catch the strongest version of this scent at the Kaunas 2022 office, and a bit milder one can be purchased as a souvenir! Kaunas has never seen anything like it before!

EXPERIENCE

Planning on coming to Kaunas and exploring the Kaunas 2022 programme of events?

We're prepared to welcome you with three different hospitality options.

We've created them knowing that it's no longer enough just to give you a brochure and a tourist map. We know you don't want to hear pretty stories or go on standard tours anymore. We're sure that, just like us, you're no longer interested in the ordinary.

Bed & Culture, Culture Ride, and Culture Host are part of our effort to share with you, our city's guests, the less obvious stories of Kaunas and offer you the opportunity to experience the city through the eyes of those who live here – to see the real Kaunas through the keyhole, encountering things you've never experienced, seen, or heard before.

I myself only moved to Kaunas a few years ago, so I understand that the real beauty of the city may not always be immediately obvious to everyone. But I personally developed a love for it and deep fascination with this city very quickly, and that would never have happened if not for the Kaunas 2022 project bringing me into contact with so many Kaunasians who love their city deeply.

Nearly 1,000 Kaunas 2022 volunteers, local businesspeople, historians, and even taxi drivers have happily joined the hospitality programme to show their love for Kaunas and share their stories and knowledge about the city with everyone visiting the European Capital of Culture.

The formula for our hospitality programme is pretty simple: connect those who want to hear with those who want to tell and present it all in the original format.

So, if you're not satisfied with just Laisvės Alėja and you want to dive deeper into all the interesting aspects of Kaunas, I invite you to book a night at the Art Deco Museum, have a ride in a taxi driven by a guide, or just listen to a story or two told by a real Kaunasian.

I warn you, though once you've encountered Kaunas, you might just want to stay...

I wish you many wonderful impressions!

Hospitality Programme

BED & CULTURE

Have you always dreamed of traveling through time or spending a night in a museum?

Only during its year as European Capital of Culture will Kaunas 2022 offer you the chance to book accommodations at authentic Airbnb flats that will transport you to one of four different time periods, from the years of the Provisional Capital to contemporary Kaunas.

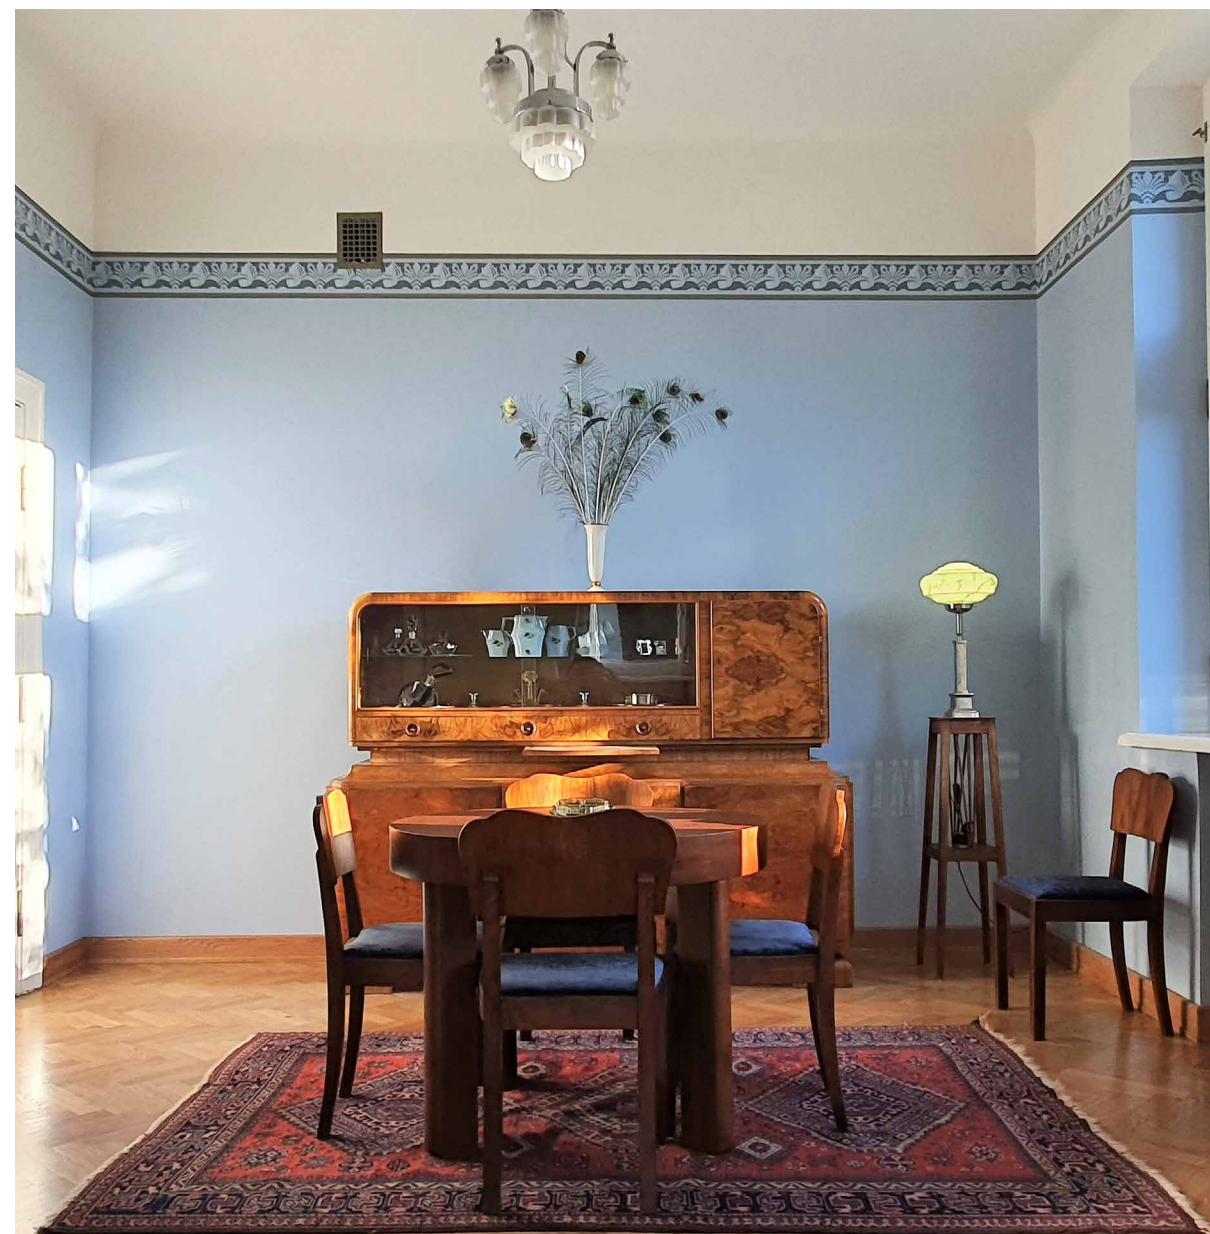

We'll have something to offer lovers of art deco architecture, fans of the Soviet-era heritage, and anyone who's curious how a typical Kaunas flat might have looked in the 1990s, during the days of wild capitalism.

Or maybe you'd like to experience how a contemporary Kaunasian lives?

Every trip through time in these apartments will not only feature authentic interiors, but also typical objects, sounds, and even tastes from the period.

This is an experiential experiment that invites you to not only see, but also live history and culture. Choose your apartment experience here:

www.kaunas2022.eu/en/experience-kaunas

CULTURE RIDE

What professional knows his or her city the best and can tell the most surprising stories about it? Well, drivers, of course.

During Kaunas' year as European Capital of Culture, you don't have to ride in just any old taxi – you can call a Culture Ride! Short on time? Feeling a chill? Or maybe you've just walked a bit too much today? A Culture Ride can transport you comfortably along a route of your choosing to explore a side of Kaunas you'll never see in a textbook or brochure... Hop in and take a ride to culture!

Find out how to hail your own Culture Ride here:

CULTURE HOST

When you arrive in the city and you want to discover less-travelled paths or the latest cool spots, but you're still shy about asking someone on the street – just ask a Culture Host.

Our hosts are a group of friendly, local Kaunasians ready to open the doors of their city to everyone visiting the Capital of Culture and show them Kaunas through the eyes of a local.

Interested in street art, modernist architecture, or just finding the most delicious donut in town? Each Culture Host can share their own unique story with you – so all you have to do is find a likeminded new friend and the key to unlocking the most interesting way to explore the Contemporary Capital will be right there in your hand.

Experience Kaunasian hospitality and meet your own Culture Host here:

CULTURISTS – KAUNAS 2022 VOLUNTEERS

If you get to an event and you catch a glimpse of a bright-coloured jacket and a big smile, that means you've met a Culturist – a Kaunas 2022 volunteer. Don't be afraid to ask them anything!

Nearly 1,000 like-minded Kaunasians have joined this project to create positive change in their city and stand ready at the most important posts in the city during its time as European Capital of Culture, so that Kaunasians and their guests would have the best experience possible.

In 2019, we began calling our volunteers "Culturists", which in Lithuanian sounds a bit like our word for bodybuilder, since they started training their "cultural muscles" in various classes to teach them more about the city, leadership, and hospitality, so that we could all raise the European Capital of Culture project to the next level.

Our volunteers are students and seniors, programmers and guides – people with all sorts of skills and different backgrounds, but most importantly, they are our friends and one big family, all coming together for one purpose: to transform their city into a contemporary European Capital of Culture.

Maybe you want to become a co-creator of change? Join us!
